Shivamogga curfew till Saturday; 2 more held

Slain Bajrang Dal man's phone missing from murder scene

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Shivamogga

A police drone lifts off to undertake surveillance of sensitive areas in Shivamogga on Wednesday | VINOD KUMAR T

THE police have arrested two more persons in connection with the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha on Wednesday, taking the number to eight so far. Curiously, the police said that the phone Harsha was using, has been missing from the site of attack.

Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said in Bengaluru that the two arrested have been identified as Faraz Pasha (24) and Abdul Khadar Jilan (25). Two officers of Additional Director General of Police rank, who are camping in Shivamogga, are heading the inquiry, he added. The city was largely peaceful on Wednesday with no reports of any untoward incidents. Drones are being used to keep vigil and police and RAF personnel have been deployed in sensitive areas.

Deputy Commissioner R Selvamani announced that the curfew in place from 11 pm on Sunday, will be extended till 9 am on Saturday, considering the prevailing situation. On Tuesday, it was announced that the curfew will be extended only till 9 am on Friday. All processions, programmes, victory marches and other events, where people take part in large numbers, are prohibited and more than five people cannot gather at one place. All shops will be closed, but milk, groceries and vegetables will be sold from 6 am to 8 am, the DC stated in the order.

Meanwhile, some Kannada television news channels aired reports quoting one of Harsha's friends that two girls had made video calls to him seeking help, on the day of his murder. "Harsha and our friends were together from around 6 pm to 7 pm. During this time, two girls called him and told him that they were his friends. Harsha told the girls that he did not know them and disconnected the call. The girls repeatedly called Harsha, but he disconnected the calls," he claimed. P4

We don't think this as an ordinary murder case. We will expose the forces behind it. There are many possibilities in this case involving various organisations, which the police are probing

NCP's Malik arrested in money-laundering case

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

Maharashtra Minister Nawab Malik taken for a medical test after his arrest by the ED on Wednesday | PTI

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday arrested Maharashtra minister and NCP chief spokesman Nawab Malik in connection with a money-laundering case linked to gangster Dawood Ibrahim. After over eight hours of questioning, the ED arrested him. He was produced before a special court, which remanded him in the central agency's custody till March 3.

Malik is the second NCP minister to be arrested by the ED after former Maharashtra home minister Anil Deshmukh.

The ED picked up Malik from his house for questioning on Wednesday morning in connection with the purchase of a property from fugitive underworld don Dawood Ibrahim's sister Hasina Parkar. The NCP leader said he was arrested without any notice of summons. He was issued summons after reaching ED office.

According to the court arguments by the ED counsel, the case was registered against Dawood Ibrahim Kaskar on February 3,2020. Dawood is involved in various terror activities and money-laundering. Besides, unauthorised properties are acquired and sold and that money is funded for terror activities. Dawood's sister Hasina was also controlling a similar property in Kurla, though the actual owner of the property was one Munira, who inherited it from her parent. One Salim Patel, connected to Hasina, was given power of attorney of this property to remove some encroachments, but he illegally sold it to Nawab Malik for ₹55 lakh.

In her statement to ED, Munira said she did not get a single penny from the transaction. Also, the property was sold at a fraction of its market value of around ₹3.3 crore, it was alleged. The ED said the right of the property was passed on to Malik by Haseena. The agency's counsel said he had enough material to prove the property was bought illegally. Malik's advocate Amit Desai argued the property was bought in 1999 when the money-laundering law was not in existence. "Malik himself is victim in this case because he was not given the clear property title," he argued.

Wherever prescribed, uniform rule should be followed, says HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday orally clarified that whether it be degree or PU colleges, the prescribed uniform should be followed as long as the pleas on the hijab issue are pending before the court.

Clarifying this at the end of the day's hearing, the full bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justices Krishna S Dixit and J M Khazi said that if a uniform is prescribed, it has to be followed by students till the matter is pending before the court. However, where there is no uniform, there is no question of wearing one, the bench noted.

The clarification came after Mohammad Tahir, counsel of a petitioner, claimed that some degree colleges are also suddenly insisting on uniforms though the interim order is confined only to PU colleges where college development committees are constituted. P4

Ukrainian servicemen deployed at a flashpoint in eastern Ukraine | AFP

SIGNS of a broader attack on Ukraine became clearer on Wednesday with Moscow evacuating its diplomatic staff from Kyiv and the eastern European country asking its citizens to leave Russia immediately.

Western nations have moved their diplomatic staff from Kyiv to Lviv near Poland, fearing an attack on the Ukraine capital. And EU called an emergency meeting on Thursday.

With tension mounting, the UK warned that Russian President Vladimir Putin is highly likely to order a full-scale invasion of Ukraine. French Foreign Minister Jean-Yves Le Drian said Putin no longer accepted Ukraine's independence under international law.

While the Western powers unveiled a raft of sanctions against Russia, they made it clear that harsher measures await the Putin-led country if it steps up its aggression. "There will be even more tough sanctions on key oligarchs, on key organisations in Russia, limiting Russia's access to the financial markets, if there is a full-scale invasion of Ukraine," UK Foreign Secretary said.

IN A FIRST, TEACHING JOBS OPEN TO TRANSGENDERS IN GOVT SCHOOLS

Opportunity will be given in all government depts; people should cooperate, says minister

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

IN a big boost to gender inclusivity, some government schools in Karnataka will have teachers from the transgender community. The Department of Public Instruction has called for applications of primary school teachers, with one per cent reservation for transgenders, making Karnataka the first state to recruit teachers from the community.

With many government schools facing a shortage of teachers, the government managed to recruit guest teachers at some places. In December 2021, after the Finance department gave its approval, the Department of Public Instruction went ahead with the process to recruit 15,000 teachers for Classes 6 to 8, of whom 5,000 will be reserved for Kalyan Karnataka region.

Applicants should be graduates with a score of 50 per cent, and hold a Diploma in Teaching for two years.

The notification also said there are different categories to avail of quota, including Schedule Caste/ Schedule Tribe, Rural Quota, Physically Challenged, Women, and the newly introduced one per cent quota for transgenders. It may be noted that in July 2021, the government amended the Karnataka Civil Service (General Recruitment) Rule, 1977.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister BC Nagesh told TNIE that the government has introduced one per cent quota to give an opportunity for transgenders in all departments. "We have called for recruitment of teachers, with reservation for transgenders. This is a significant step and we are hoping this will help the community join the mainstream," he said. He said people should cooperate with the government initiative, and stressed the need to sensitise people in rural and other places, if transgenders are recruited. If there are no candidates for this quota, the posts will be merged with general category.

In December 2021, the Karnataka police decided to include transgenders in the force. A notification was issued by the recruitment and training department, inviting eligible men, women and transgenders to apply for 70 posts of reserve sub-inspector (RSI) rank.

Akkai Padmashali, transgender activist, said the state government has not carried out a survey on the transgender community in Karnataka, and there is no data. "When there is no data on their education or socio-economic status, how can such a notification help them? As per the notification, there are 150 posts for transgenders and we don't know if there are so many eligible people when it comes to education. The government should stress on their education," she said.

A woman drops a note at a 'MyCityMyBudget' drive in the city | EXPRESS

Have your say in MyCityMyBudget

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and Janaagraha, a non-profit organisation, on Wednesday jointly took up work on the 'MyCityMyBudget' for 2022-23. The initiative, started in 2015, is to facilitate and highlight citizens' participation in the BBMP budget.

This year, the MyCityMyBudget campaign will focus on collecting inputs from citizens, with a special focus on parks, footpaths and public toilets. The 'Budget Bus' will traverse across the city and elicit opinions from people in different neighbourhoods of Bengaluru till March 15. Citizens can also log on to http://mycitymybudget.in and provide their inputs.

Janaagraha will collate all the inputs, analyse and present a report to BBMP for incorporation in the upcoming budget. The exercise by BBMP, has raised people's expectations on increased allocation to the ward committees. Last year, for the first time, BBMP entrusted each of the 198 ward committees with Rs 60 lakh to make local decisions.

Srinivas Alavilli, head, civic participation, Janaagraha, said BBMP invites citizens to participate in preparing the city budget, which very few cities in India do. "More than 40 citizens' groups have come together to make this happen.

This opened up new frontiers of citizen participation in many wards, where people collaborated with the BBMP to identify footpaths that needed to be fixed. This year, focus will continue to be on footpaths, public toilets and parks," he said.

Palike Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said, "Participatory budgeting initiatives such as MyCityMyBudget should become a nationwide movement. When citizens participate in budgets, they understand the processes as well as complexities. This will, in turn, help in prioritising how we can solve civic issues."

DGP orders 'citizen-centric' police websites

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA DG&IGP Praveen Sood on Wednesday ordered police unit officers across the state to make the department websites informative and attractive to citizens, or take them off the internet. He also urged each unit to appoint a dedicated staffer to update the site at least once a month.

Sood made this clear in an internal note sent to all commissionerates, IGPs in charge of ranges, and district police superintendents, including Railways and unit officers. The DGP told TNIE, "A website can play the role of a solid interface between the citizens and the government. It can be a strong interactive medium too. I have asked for a dedicated team to be set up to facilitate it."

There are at least 45 websites with the Karnataka Police, one for each district and at the commissionerate level. "Nearly 99 per cent of them are vibrant, but there are a few which have not been updated for nearly 10 years. I want them to be current," he said.

Pat on the back

The IG lauded Karnataka Railways, Directorate of Forensic Science Laboratory, Karnataka Police Academy, Bengaluru City Police, Karnataka State Fire & Emergency Services, Karnataka Home Guards and Civil Defence department and CID Cyber crime departments as their sites were in excellent condition with regular updates.

Work was under way to make the Karnataka State Police website more attractive and citizen-friendly, he added.

Woman's campaign tastes success, state to focus on maternal mental health

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

A 22-year-old risk analyst and mental health advocate's nine-month long online campaign to help pregnant women address their mental health during pregnancy, seems to finally found shape. The Bengaluru woman met Karnataka Health Commissioner D Randeep to discuss steps to screen women during and after pregnancy for mental health issues, and the idea was welcomed by the commissioner.

Randeep stated that the health department will kickstart a holistic maternal mental health campaign in the next few weeks. According to Anvita Nair, an employee of Ernst & Young, it all began on October 16, 2017, when her best friend died by suicide. Anvita's life turned upside down and she suffered incessant headaches, insomnia, and was even diagnosed with mild atypical depression. She started to extensively research mental health and found how during the perinatal period -- pregnancy plus two-year postpartum period -- women were more prone to developing mental illnesses.

"This could range from lack of sleep to thoughts of self-harm. The very idea that a mother could have ill-feelings towards her own child went against everything I knew about motherhood. From the woman who was suicidal and was being pressured to have a baby early, to the woman who was too depressed to bond with her newborn -- each story I read cemented the fact that these silent struggles needed to be addressed," says Anvita.

She first started an online petition campaign #BeatTheBlues on change.org, asking the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare, GoK, to make a policy to ensure that every health centre in the state conducts mandatory screening of perinatal women -- once during pregnancy and once in the postpartum period. Also, train first responders to screen perinatal women for their mental health, and publish the list of health centres where mental health screening is being conducted.

"The first step to fighting this problem is screening women for mental health during routine visits to their obstetrician-gynaecologist (OBG)," she said.

24th February: Taurus is my sign of the moment. I'm a great admirer of people born under this sector of the zodiac. Or, at least, of their finer qualities! You can do no worse than choose a Taurean to feature amongst your closest friends. They'll stand by you through thick and thin – and who could ask for more?

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Events that take place very soon will provide you with an opportunity to rebuild bridges and find permanent solutions to seemingly intractable partnership problems. Some difficulties may be solved with a little extra spending, but mainly with more emotional grit.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
It is for you to gauge the moods of close companions and associates. However, at least one person is making it particularly difficult for you to fathom what their long-term plans are, let alone why they should be acting so incredibly strangely.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
What appears to be arrogance and intransigence is really the belligerent planet Mars urging you to stand up for yourself whatever the opposition. Face obstacles with courage and determination, and throw money at any problems which can be bought off.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Steering others through a difficult patch will both lift your own morale and foster happiness among close friends and relatives. Everyone will benefit from a dose of your famous compassion. I know you'll be under pressure, but you'll feel better if you take care of others.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You must collect your thoughts and fight for what you know to be right. Justice means not only securing your own interests against others' interference, but protecting those who are weaker than you. You have probably figured out by now that you are here to help friends and strangers.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Now that the planetary formation is changing, your willingness to co-operate and try out a new format will make the coming months that much more agreeable. Happiness depends on harmonious relationships, and right now you could do with a little extra passion and enthusiasm.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You may have come to suspect that you are unlikely to get a fair deal whatever the circumstances. However, events that take place soon will strengthen your hand and increase your bargaining power. You will have to lay down the law at home - or lose a struggle.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Life is too precious to waste by dwelling on past problems, so forget about recent trials and tribulations, and concentrate on creating a lighter atmosphere. It is up to you to restore good feeling. Once you have done that, you will be able to make your mind up!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Developments which are now imminent are likely to have a dramatic impact on your working life and may disrupt your routine in a number of areas. A shake-out could prove useful though, even profitable. In the short-run, you may have to spend a little money in order to make more.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's in taking responsibility for your own needs and desires that you assume control over your personal affairs. Right now, only you can decide whether one particular relationship or association ought to become a permanent and ongoing feature of your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your life over the past couple of years has often resembled a seesaw, swinging one way, then the other. You're going through another change now, as issues which are fundamental to your entire existence re-assert themselves. All the important issues, though, seem to be hidden.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You probably don't realise just how much has been accomplished through your own efforts, because other people are likely to hog the limelight. You don't need public acclaim to know that you have done well. You just need to realise that other people really like you!

OUT OF COVID? CONSULT DOCTORS AFTER A COUPLE OF WEEKS

Mild or severe, don't ignore symptoms; Virus could affect heart, thyroid, kidney, brain

CHETANA BELAGERE @ Bengaluru

IRRESPECTIVE of Covid being mild, moderate or severe, follow-up checks after two to four weeks are important, say doctors. A set of people who have recovered reported poor concentration, disturbed sleep, cognitive decline, anxiety along with onset of diabetes, thyroid and some cardiac related issues too.

Doctors say that not all cases need to be called 'Long Covid'. "Sore throat, difficulty in breathing, dry cough and throat discomfort are some of the common symptoms people experience post recovery. This phase is important and one must not ignore these symptoms. Each phase is characterised by a change, some unpredictable, so it is ideal to consult a doctor. Post-Covid follow-up care is a must," said Dr Sunil Kumar K, Lead and Sr Consultant - Interventional Pulmonology, Aster CMI Hospital.

Pulmonologists and other experts say that although the virus primarily affected the lungs during the second wave, it could also affect the heart, kidney and brain, which increases the risk of long-term health problems. Several patients infected by the Omicron variant have reported fatigue for a long time even after recovery, and some also reported mental health issues, including lack of concentration, brain fog, anxiety etc.

Dr Vivek Anand Padegal, Director, Pulmonology, Fortis Hospitals, says, "It's crucial to see a doctor post Covid, to ensure that everything is fine. People with minor Covid need to keep in constant touch with a doctor if symptoms such as exhaustion, chronic bodyaches, shortness of breath or other similar symptoms occur after recovery. However, cardiovascular problems, blood clots and lung fibrosis can occur in severe patients, necessitating careful and long-term care. Routine checks are essential for a few months post recovery."

Meanwhile, Dr Subrata Das, Senior Consultant - Internal Medicine & Diabetology, Sakra World Hospital, said, "Post Covid, patients usually require assessment after two weeks. The frequency of follow-up is case to case, depending on risk factors and severity of infection. For most cases, a follow-up two weeks after the start of illness is advised, and for some cases, the doctor may request investigations early, based on symptoms and comorbidities."

Many diabetic patients are observed to have uncontrolled blood sugar levels, post Covid. Diabetologists claim that it is possible that coronavirus can cause inflammation, hormonal imbalance in the body and also elevated levels of blood sugar. It is possible that these patients have prediabetes and due to steroid and other treatment, diabetes is triggered.

"If anyone has excessive, frequent urination and excessive thirst, blurry vision and loss of alertness, slow healing of cuts and wounds, extreme fatigue, is unable to regain weight after recovery, it could indicate that the person might have developed diabetes mellitus during Covid-19 or post recovery," said Dr Abhay Gundubarthi, diabetologist.

Meanwhile, Dr Satyanarayana Mysore, HOD and Consultant, Pulmonology, Lung Transplant Physician, Manipal Hospitals, says, "It is important to consult your family physician, a cardiologist or pulmonologist if there are any symptoms following Covid infection. If there is shortness of breath, fatigue, joint pain, increased hair loss and chest pain, one should consult a doctor." Meanwhile, doctors say that post-Covid conditions can be improved with rehabilitation programmes and therapies. Based on symptoms, doctors will be able to prescribe medicines that will help manage them.

The budget session of the State Legislature will be held from March 4 to 30. As per the provisional programme of the session, CM Bommai will present the state budget at 12.30 pm on March 4. After the budget presentation, official proceedings in the Council and Assembly will resume from Monday (March 7)

Demand for NIA probe grows, CM says decision after police inquiry

Bommai says maintaining law & order priority, police should be allowed to investigate first

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru/ Shivamogga

CHIEF Minster Basavaraj Bommai on Wednesday said a decision on handing over the probe into Bajrang Dal activist Harsha's murder in Shivamogga to any agency will be decided based on the outcome of the investigation being conducted by police.

"The decision on handing over the probe to any agency will be taken based on the outcome of the ongoing police investigation. Many suspects have been arrested and police should be allowed to continue with the investigation," Bommai said, responding to a question on demand from some BJP leaders to entrust the investigation to the National Investigation Agency (NIA).

Several pro-Hindu outfits have also been demanding a NIA probe.

Police have arrested eight persons for their involvement in the murder of 26-year-old Harsha in Shivamogga on Sunday night. Bommai said maintaining peace, law and order is the priority of the government and curfew is in force in Shivamogga. He hit back at the Congress that has alleged that Harsha's funeral procession was a government-sponsored event, violating Section 144. "They are saying this based on their own experience," Bommai added.

Responding to a question, Bommai said as of now, he has no plans to visit Delhi.

Meanwhile, several senior BJP leaders, including state unit chief Nalin Kumar Kateel, RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa, state unit vice-president B Y Vijayendra, and Social Welfare Minister Kota Shrinivas Poojari visited Harsha's residence in Shivamogga and consoled his family. Kateel said that the whole Hindu community stands with the family and assured the family of help from the government.

Meanwhile, several pro-Hindu outfits across the state demanded that the government order an NIA probe into the murder case. Members of the Bajrang Dal and Vishwa Hindu Parishad on Wednesday staged protests in various places of Central Karnataka, including Davanagere, Chitradurga and Challakere, and urged the government to take strict action against the culprits.

Jnanendra orders probe against cops

SHIVAMOGGA: Home Minister Araga Jnanendra has written to DG and IGP Praveen Sood ordering an inquiry against Doddapete and Kote police station personnel to find out whether there was any dereliction of duty on their part. Jnanendra stated in his letter to Sood that suspects arrested in connection with Harsha's murder have serious cases lodged against them in the police stations. He sought to know the action the police had taken against the accused in connection with other cases registered against them in the last five years. Jnanendra asked Sood to submit a report in a week. The minister also wanted to know whether the police have any role in the surge of anti-social elements in Shivamogga.

MP defends taking part in procession

SHIVAMOGGA: MP BY Raghavendra said that though the police asked people not to take out the funeral procession of Harsha in Shivamogga, people were not ready to listen. The situation was very critical and it needed a sensitive approach, he added. He said that one cannot play with people's emotions. "RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa and I tried to lead the procession in a peaceful way... to calm down people. We did not do anything that was provocative in nature," he said. Meanwhile, minister Eshwarappa said that he took part in the funeral procession to control the mob. "We took part in the procession to ensure peace. We did not lead the procession as alleged by the Congress," he thundered.

Don't fight over religion, pleads Harsha's sister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Shivamogga

ASHWINI, the sister of 26-year-old Bajrang Dal activist Harsha who was murdered in Shivamogga on Sunday night, has appealed to people not to fight over religion. Addressing the media near her residence, Ashwini urged people to "maintain peace and take good care of their families."

"I know how it feels to lose someone close. I am deeply hurt after losing Harsha. Please maintain peace and take care of your families. Everybody is important to me... irrespective of caste and religion," she said. Ashwini said that all are humans and it is important to uphold humanity. "My mother is already in pain and it is so difficult to see her in such a situation," she added.

Ashwini said that "every individual in this nation are her brothers - be it Muslims or Hindus." "Do everything with caution. There is a need to understand and think about one's family first. After this tragic incident, now I have a mother, father, brother and sister in each house. Harsha has become a patriot and has left us for the nation. Think about your parents first and please drive your attention towards doing good deeds and staying happy," Ashwini urged.

In a video which went viral recently, Ashwini had said, "My brother (Harsha) is lying in such a bad state. I am asking all my brothers with folded hands, whether you are a Hindu or Muslim, be good children to your parents first and do not get into all of this."

THE man went on to say that Harsha and his friends were walking towards a canteen. "Then, Harsha asked us to bring our vehicle. When we were away to get the vehicle, we received a call informing us that Harsha had been attacked," he said. However, the police did not confirm reports that some girls had called Harsha.

Superintendent of Police B M Laxmi Prasad told TNIE that he cannot confirm whether calls were made, but added that Harsha's phone is missing.

Recover damage from rioters: Congress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS leader B K Hariprasad has demanded that those responsible for damage of properties during the violence that broke out in Shivamogga in the aftermath of the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha, should be made to pay up.

RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa, who led the funeral procession, when vandalism and arson was reported, should also be made to cough up for the damage, he insisited.

Taking to Twitter, Hariprasad stated on Wednesday, "BJP takes pride in making rioters pay up for damage caused to public property. Going by the same yardstick, the government should recover compensation from KS Eshwarappa for damage caused as he led the funeral procession. Why should govt exchequer be burdened? As a minister, he has instigated the crowd." KPCC working president Eshwar Khandre said, "There is enough television footage to show who participated in the riots. The perpetrators have to pay."

Meanwhile, KPCC working president R Dhruvanarayan told the media in Mysuru that the State Government has failed to maintain the law and order in Karnataka. "There have been two double-murders in Shivamogga in a week and nearly six murders in a span of one month. It is a complete failure of the intelligence and police department ... that too in the home turf of Home Minister Araga Jnanendra and home constituency of RDPR Minister K S Eshwarappa," he said.

'Stop communal agenda, Karnataka is in danger'

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

EVEN as Shivamogga, the epicentre of the recent communal flare-up, continued to simmer, with right-wing leaders calling for a 'Hindu Jihad' following the murder of Bajrang Dal activist Harsha, Supreme Court advocate Prashant Bhushan said serious attempts should be made to stop communalisation of the situation.

His opinion found an echo in former Supreme Court judge Justice Madan Lokur, former Law Commission Chairman Justice A P Shah and former DG&IGP Ajai Kumar Singh.

Bhushan, who questioned why courts were not reining in communal forces, said, "This communalisation of a murder is being done according to the playbook of the BJP, which was earlier done it in Gujarat."

Justice Lokur said, "Every murder is horrible, but should not be politicised or communalised. In the interest of justice, making political or communal statements could vitiate the atmosphere and affect investigation."

"Communalising poses great danger to society. Karnataka is becoming a volatile state and such communal colouring of events should be discouraged, or the state will turn into a hate factory. It is the duty of the political class and bureaucracy to ensure that events are not politicised," said Justice Shah.

Every murder is horrible, but should not be politicised. In the interest of justice, making political or communal statements could vitiate the atmosphere and affect investigation

Justice Madan Lokur, ex-SC judge

Retired IAS officer MG Devasahayam, terming the happenings "Goebellsian", said the hate agenda has to stop. "The hate agenda is kept boiling against minority communities by repeating lies against them. When parties have nothing to show by way of achievements, they indulge in hatred," he said.

Ajai Kumar Singh, who was Shivamogga SP back in 1981-83, appealed to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai and Home Minister Araga Jnanendra to uphold the rule of law and bring to book all those involved in Harsha's murder. "They must also take action against those who organised and led the procession in violation of prohibitory orders, and for the resultant violence."

'MLA has no political role in college panel'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE college development committee (CDC) is the only body which acts on behalf of a college and the MLA heading it has no political role to play. The Campus Front of India (CFI) and other organisations instigated students and parents as a result of which children's education is being affected, senior counsel S S Naganand, representing the Government PU College for Girls, Udupi, its principal and vice-principal, told the Karnataka High Court on Wednesday.

Naganand made the submission before a full bench of Chief Justice Ritu Raj Awasthi and Justices Krishna S Dixit and JM Khazi, while countering the arguments of the petitioners' counsel who had questioned the legality of constituting a CDC and leaving the discretion of prescribing uniforms to it.

Mentioning that some organisations threatened a teacher of the college and that a complaint had been filed recently, Naganand argued that the petitioners did not disclose in the petition that their parents had given an undertaking while admitting their wards that they will abide by the terms and conditions of the college.

He also submitted that Muslim girl students were not in the habit of wearing hijab previously and the uniform has been compulsory since 2014. Then, the court asked why the issue had arisen suddenly. Advocate General Prabhuling Navadagi replied that he will submit the reasons and name the organisations responsible for the hijab controversy, in a sealed cover to the court.

Naganand further argued that occasionally, some parents of the Muslim girls had com to inquire whether wearing the hijab is permitted during class hours. They had even requested the college authorities to ensure that their children are not involved in singing, dancing, music and extra curricular activities. "I don't know if Muslim girls should not sing with their classmates. Is singing the national anthem against Islam? None of these things have anything to do with religion", he argued.

Senior Counsel Sajan Poovayya, representing the chairman of Udupi Government PU College development committee, argued that imparting education is a secular activity of the state and maintaining secular attire is of paramount consideration.

6 petitioners want practical exams deferred

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Udupi

SIX students of Women's Government PU College, Udupi, who have approached the High Court in the ongoing hijab row have said that they have requested the PU Board to defer their practical exams that commences on February 28.

"As we could not attend classes for the last two months as we were denied entry, we need time to study for the practical exams. So we request the officials to postpone the practical exams," said Almas, one of the six petitioners. "We were told by the DDPU of Udupi district Maruthi that he will communicate our request to the officials concerned in the PU Board. We hope that our request will be considered," she added.

Aliya Assadi, another petitioner, said that after the hijab issue was politicised and their contact details were made public, they have been getting phone calls from unknown people.

"Some have even threatened us... a few even abused us verbally," she said and urged the government to take action against those who assaulted the brother of another petitioner- Hazra Shifa. "Shifa is mentally disturbed after her brother Saif was assaulted by miscreants in Malpe. So she has not come with us to speak to the media today," she said. She further added all petitioners in the hijab case are eagerly waiting for the final verdict of the High Court. "Till then, there is no question of appearing for the practical exams without hijab," she added.

SOME colleges are not allowing students who were not wearing the uniform, citing the interim order, though it is not applicable to them. The students are suffering and are being deprived of an opportunity to appear for exams. Therefore, a clarification is needed, he pleaded.

Intervening at this stage, Advocate General Prabhuling K Navadagi submitted that if there is a violation of the interim order, it should be brought to the notice of the court. He also pointed out that the counsel who is seeking clarification, had filed a petition before the single judge on behalf of a student from Bhandarkar College of Arts and Science, Udupi. The college's counsel had submitted that the college has passed a resolution prescribing a uniform. However, the counsel again filed another petition before the full bench, which is vexatious, as the issue is already settled, the AG noted.

The court then orally clarified on its interim order.

Temple, monument tourism has big potential: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai, stressing the immense potential for temple tourism in Karnataka, said there is also huge scope for monument tourism.

He suggested building a 'Tourism Circuit' by integrating the two to attract more tourists.

Bommai, who launched the Integrated Temple Management System (ITMS) developed by the Hindu Endowments Department on Wednesday, said there is a need for a master plan to provide amenities at temples. The ITMS is a mobile app which seeks to streamline information on temples for devotees.

He said temple management should be given priority. There is a need to record the number of pilgrims visiting temples, and the system to manage temple assets needs to be streamlined. Integrated development of temples and reforms in their administration should be taken up. Along with management, proper control is needed as it involves the contribution of pilgrims and assets of temples, he added.

Bommai also assured temple archaks that he would address their issues, and called for maintenance of cleanliness in temples and also pollution-free ambience in temple premises.

Temple details

The ITMS will provide details of temples, including properties owned by them, route maps to reach temples, sevas offered and their rate charts, among other details.

It will also be a gateway for devotees to donate money and help generate revenue for temples. In Karnataka, there are more than 34,000 temples where about 50,000 archaks, pradhan archaks, Group C and D employees, including contract workers, work.

Legislators have the right to protest, but not disrupt House, says Speaker

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ASSEMBLY Speaker Vishweshwara Hegde Kageri expressed concern over disruption of proceedings during the legislature session that ended abruptly on Tuesday and said he totally disapproved of the attempts to develop leadership by creating disputes and vitiating atmosphere in the society.

The session was adjourned after Congress staged day-and-night protest in Vidhana Soudha demanding RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa's dismissal for his saffron flag remark. Kageri said legislators have the right to protest, but they should not disrupt the proceedings of the House. It is the duty as well as the responsibility of all members to create bonhomie and camaraderie in the society by their measured speech, dignified conduct and exemplary behaviour thereby setting good precedence. "Attempts to become leader by creating disputes, intemperate behaviour and foul language will not do good either to the individual or to the institution. I totally disapprove of such things," Kageri said.

The Speaker said it is time for honest introspection over the state of affairs, including conduct, behaviour and the language used in the public discourse.

On 50% salary hike for ministers and MLAs, he said the government took the decision and Law and Parliamentary Affairs Minister JC Madhuswamy has spoken about it in the Assembly.

AIADMK leader D Jayakumar, who was arrested again on Wednesday in connection with the second case registered by the Chennai police, was remanded till March 9 and lodged in the Poonamallee sub-jail. His bail plea in the first case, registered by Tondiarpet police, was rejected by the magistrate

Army alert to all threats: Gen Naravane

CoAS says a modern millitary has to be always ready to meet future challenges

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF of Army Staff General M M Naravane on Wednesday said the army was alert and ready to take on any potential threats while remaining committed to maintaining peace and stability along the country's borders.

With the ongoing geo-political status on the northern borders, Gen Naravane said the Indian Army was going through a challenging time, but has increased its efficiency with new weaponry and modern equipment, and added that there was a new intensity in the efforts directed at this over the last three years.

He stressed that a modern and professional Indian Army has to be always ready to meet future challenges that come its way.

He was speaking after presenting the 'President's Colours', or 'Nishan', to four battalions of the Parachute Regiment — 11 Para (SF), 21 Para (SF), 23 Para and 29 Para — on behalf of President Ram Nath Kovind during a Colour Presentation Parade at the Parachute Regiment Training Centre in Bengaluru. The 'Nishan' is considered to be one of the greatest honours for a military unit — a recognition of its exceptional service to the nation.

He said with a change in the area of battle, the manner in which forces are organised, too, had changed, along with the way weapons are used and how battles are fought. Towards this end, "the army has increased its efficiency with new weaponry and modern equipment. Although this process of change is continuous, there is a new intensity and speed in these efforts in the last two to three years," he said.

AP HC stays police probe against CBI official

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayawada

THE Andhra Pradesh High Court on Wednesday stayed further proceedings on the First Information Report filed by the Kadapa police against Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) Additional Superintendent of Police Ram Singh, who is investigating the murder of former minister YS Vivekananda Reddy.

RIMS Kadapa police registered a case against Ram Singh based on a complaint filed by G Uday Kumar Reddy, an employee of Uranium Corporation of India Limited, alleging criminal intimidation by the CBI Additional SP. Uday Kumar, a suspect in the case, was interrogated for more than 20 times by the CBI in connection with the Vivekananda Reddy murder case.

Ram Singh filed a house motion petition in the High Court challenging the case registered against him. Arguing on behalf of Ram Singh, Assistant Solicitor General N Harinath said Uday Kumar filed a private petition in the court with false allegations only to hamper investigation in the murder case. Additional Public Prosecutor Dushyanth Reddy, appearing on behalf of the police, said they had acted as per the law and registered the case on the instructions of the Magistrate as the police should abide by the court orders.

IN THE HC

Issuing an interim order staying further proceedings in the case registered by the Kadapa police, Justice D Ramesh served notices on the Kadapa RIMS police station inspector and Uday Kumar directing them to respond and posted the matter for further hearing after four weeks.

Meanwhile, Bharat Kumar Yadav, a suspect in the Vivekananda Reddy murder case, denied the allegations made against him by Dastagiri, who turned approver.

He told the media that they had never offered any land or monetary benefits to Dastagiri to bring to their notice the case investigation. "It is very unfortunate that Dastagiri has been trying to create hurdles in the case. CBI officials have threatened us not to go before the media and directed us to share all the information with them. Due to the CBI restrictions, we never came before the media. Now, we only came out to condemn the allegations made by Dastagiri against us," he said.

It may be recalled that the Prime Minister, in his address, had made statements about the way the AP Reorganisation Act was passed by Parliament in 2014.

Arvind met Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla and complained that the newspapers acted against the privileges and had portrayed the Prime Minister in bad light by misinterpreting his statement. After reviewing the complaint, the Committee served notices to the newspaper managements. ENS

Raped by local politico's hubby, cop, girl ends life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Mahabubabad (Telangana)

IN a shocking incident that came to light on Wednesday, a 22-year-old girl died by suicide after she was allegedly raped on February 18 by the husband of an MPTC, a police constable and two others in Alair village of Nellikudur mandal in Mahabubabad district.

The girl passed away after consuming pesticide on Sunday, two days after the alleged assault.

On Friday, Sk Nazeem, husband of local MPTC, Saddam Hussain, a police constable attached to the Warangal Police Commissionerate, Yata Sagar, a local auto-rickshaw driver, and K Jagadeesh, a flower merchant, kidnapped the girl from Alair bus stop and took her to an isolated place in the auto-rickshaw.

There, Saddam Hussain and Nazeem assaulted the girl with the assistance of two others.

The victim, who was attending coaching classes for competitive exams, was waiting at the bus stop on her way home when she was kidnapped.

Humiliated over the sexual assault, she allegedly consumed pesticide on Sunday. The neighbours who noticed her in an unconscious state, rushed her to the Mahabubabad Government Area Hospital, where she died on Wednesday morning while undergoing treatment.

The girl's mother had died and her father is a lorry driver.

Thorrur Circle Inspector S Karunakar Rao told Express that a suicide note was found on her bed.

"Though no one has lodged a complaint, we have registered a case and are investigating," he said. Meanwhile, the police have detained Nazeem on Wednesday. Investigation is going on.

IMRAN'S TV DEBATE SUGGESTION SHOWS LACK OF MATURITY

There is not an iota of doubt about Pakistan Prime Minister Imran Khan's capabilities as a cricketer. He was not only an excellent all-rounder, but was also one of the most feared fast bowlers of his time. His swing bowling foxed even the best batsmen. During media interviews on TV as the country's cricket captain, he came across as a mature skipper and leader who understood the game like the back of his hand. But Khan missed the woods for the trees when he, during an interview to a Russian state-run television channel, invited his Indian counterpart, Narendra Modi, to a TV debate to resolve differences between the two countries. Khan said the only sticking point between the neighbours was Kashmir and went on to claim that he knew India better than most because of his long relationship with our country through cricket.

The Pakistan PM must know that diplomacy and international relations, especially between estranged countries, are not conducted on the sets of a TV channel. Let alone resolving historical disputes, a painstaking exercise that can take eons to make small progress, even enhancing ties between supposedly friendly countries is serious business that is best left to the officials and diplomats to be conducted behind closed doors. The US and Canada, for instance, have many things in common. Both are giant North American countries with a common language and shared values such as their commitment to free speech, human rights and democracy. Yet, their relationship has not always been without pinpricks and whenever their ties have turned a bit testy, they have been resolved through dialogue and diplomacy, not through a TV debate. A Khan-Modi debate has the potential to break TRP records, but diplomacy is an art that cannot be reduced to such a spectacle.

Not only is his suggestion ludicrous and childish, Khan has also revealed a lack of maturity as a leader, holding ties between India and Pakistan hostage to the single issue of Kashmir. History, culture, language and religion bind the countries and by hinging the relationship to a single contentious issue, Khan has only shot himself in the foot.

SC ORDER A BIG RELIEF FOR HOMEBUYERS

In a seminal ruling that comes as a relief to thousands of homebuyers, the Supreme Court refused to interfere with the judgment of the Rajasthan HC over the jurisdiction of real estate regulator RERA. The HC had held that RERA had the authority to entertain a complaint by an aggrieved person against a bank as a secured creditor if the financial institution takes recourse to any of the provisions contained in Section 13(4) of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest (SARFAESI) Act.

Section 13 of the SARFAESI Act, inter alia, empowers secured creditors such as banks to take possession of real estate assets, and take over the management of the business of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease and assignment or sale for realising the asset. An amendment introduced to Section 5(8)(f) of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) by the Centre clarified that payments made by an allottee to a promoter of a real estate project would be deemed financial debt and homebuyers will be considered creditors. Yet banks do not give precedence to homebuyers during liquidation of assets of failed real estate companies.

The ruling, which is in line with the previous SC orders in Amrapali, Unitech Residential Resorts and Jaypee Associates cases, empowers homebuyers to file complaints against banks before RERA if these financial institutions take possession of projects and liquidate them.

The verdict also points to a deeper malaise in the banking system where two encumbrances are sought to be created on a single asset. When people buy a housing unit or flat, they get lien over the property. However, when banks line up commercial loans for housing projects, they too create an encumbrance on the same property. When the realtor fails to honour their financial liability, banks exercise their rights under SARFAESI Act and liquidate the assets, ignoring homebuyers. The SC order establishes the rights of homebuyers over banks and provides legal recourse to get compensated in case of liquidation. But the issue of multiple entities being allowed lien on a single asset has to be addressed expeditiously to resolve potential conflicts between parties invoking SARFAESI Act and those seeking relief under RERA.

Though there are lingering differences within the group, the need to counter China's challenge is an area of converging interest

QUAD TAKES ANOTHER STEP FORWARD

There are two geopolitical theatres today on the global stage that are on the brink of conflict and competition. The more imminent one is in Eurasia and the other is the Indo-Pacific. Russia is poised to invade Ukraine amidst a crescendo of threats from the US and her Western allies. The war of words has accompanied massing of troops, transfers of weaponry and skirmishes in Ukraine's Donetsk and Luhansk regions that have declared independence. Russia has recognised them as independent countries and may send troops for peacekeeping. The situation is extremely volatile and US President Joe Biden is ready to impose more sanctions.

In this situation, the recent meeting of Indo-Pacific foreign ministers in Australia and the publication of America's latest Indo-Pacific Strategy are significant developments. The strategy is unambiguous about US concerns on "mounting challenges, particularly from the PRC (People's Republic of China). The PRC is combining its economic, diplomatic, military and technological might as it pursues a sphere of influence in the Indo-Pacific and seeks to become the world's most influential power. The PRC's coercion and aggression spans the globe, but it is most acute in the Indo-Pacific. From the economic coercion of Australia to the conflict along the LAC with India to the growing pressure on Taiwan and bullying of neighbours in the East and South China Seas, our allies and partners in the region bear much of the cost of the PRC's harmful behaviour." Great power competition in the Indo-Pacific will be the defining geopolitical challenge that the US intends to face with partner countries and allies.

There are lingering differences within the Quad, though the need to counter China's challenge is an area of converging interest. India is unwilling to put all its eggs in one basket and will continue to maintain her ties with Russia, just as the US continues to engage China and Pakistan for her own interests. American interests dictate conducting FONOPS (Freedom of Navigation Operations), a right it exercised in India's EEZs last year without any intimation to New Delhi. It even issued a statement to publicise it, generating controversy. India's laws require prior intimation, while the US claims this right was consistent with international law. While India has ratified the UNCLOS, the US, ironically, has not done so and yet claims the right of FONOPS under it. Such incidents create doubts about US intentions, though huge advances have been made in bilateral ties, including in the defence sector, which has helped India upgrade her capabilities that are considered vital for meeting the challenge of the hostile China-Pak axis. The US is now India's largest trading partner at $130 billion, whereas Russia languishes at $10 billion.

The Quad has, so far, shied away from becoming overtly China-centric and security-driven publicly. Hence, it has focussed on issues such as critical and emerging technologies, internet, cyberspace, strengthening supply chains and vaccine production to tackle Covid. All these sectors have underlying security implications. America's Indo-Pacific strategy is clearly anchored in managing the emerging great power rivalry and she has signalled her desire for a more overt security-related approach. While this is shadow boxing to an extent, the Quad's transition to a security focus is inevitable in the future; the Quad and ASEAN have to engage on this score. By not opposing the Quad publicly, ASEAN is also signalling that it is keeping options open. The distinction between this and the Southeast Asian grouping's approach, based on preserving ASEAN Centrality in any future Indo-Pacific architecture, has to be navigated. But the strategy document does reassure ASEAN by expressing strong support for its unity and centrality.

While the Quad is now the designated vehicle for implementing America's Indo-Pacific strategy, there are differences between its member countries. The view from China has changed from disdain to outright opposition to the Quad, which it now regards as a vehicle for containing and besieging Beijing and maintaining American hegemony. China's foreign minister two years ago said the Quad was "sea foam" but is now calling it an "Asian NATO", reflecting a Cold War mentality to set up blocs to promote geopolitical competition.

> India is unwilling to put all its eggs in one basket and will continue to maintain her ties with Russia, just as the US continues to engage China and Pakistan for her own interests

China's trade and investment relations with all Quad members are factors that mitigate any precipitate moves in the security domain. Hence, the US Indo-Pacific strategy document says "we will continue to strengthen Quad cooperation on global health, climate change, critical and emerging technology, cyber ...". There are military dimensions to critical and emerging technologies, sharing of satellite data for greater maritime domain awareness and upgrading cyber capacity. The cyberwarfare unleashed by Russia on Ukraine is a reminder of the importance of unconventional and asymmetrical warfare.

The recent Quad foreign ministers' conference took an important step by agreeing to strengthen efforts to combat disinformation and also expand outreach to other countries to include "dialogue partners" and find ways to work with ASEAN and other multilateral organisations. Delivery of 500 million Covid vaccines to countries in Asia and 1.05 billion doses globally was also agreed upon, with funding from Australia. Several Southeast Asian countries, reliant on less-effective Chinese vaccines, are keen to get deliveries of other jabs that are being manufactured in India.

The US pushed hard on Moscow's posturing, arguing that a Russian invasion of Ukraine will encourage more aggression from China and undermine sovereignty of smaller nations. It is clear that India did not agree to mention Ukraine or China in the joint statement, though both issues were raised in the post-meeting press conference. India has stuck to her statement made at the UNSC. There were also differences over condemning Myanmar and the military junta's oppressive measures. India did not agree to this either, keeping in mind ASEAN's role in dealing with Myanmar and its bilateral ties.

While China's actions unite Quad members, security issues are discussed in closed meetings. The security dimension of Quad's cooperation can proceed on a separate track. And when required, it can be incorporated into the primary track. The opening for dialogue partners is also a welcome move to engage other countries that may be reluctant if the Quad assumes an overt security role in the future. Much will depend on China's future behaviour. An emerging challenge will be the China-Russia strategic partnership, which has deepened over the Ukraine crisis. China, however, has been careful in supporting the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine, which undermines Russia's latest move to recognise the independence of Donetsk and Luhansk and hive them off for eventual merger. The Quad has to now deliver on the identified sectors to maintain credibility and not regress again into a dormant state.

IS THE TRANSFORMATION PROGRAMME WORKING?

R GOPALAKRISHNAN

Best-selling author and corporate advisor

BUILDING BUSINESSES

There are several aspects of organisational transformation while disturbing the status quo and building business institutions. Change efforts are somewhat akin to raising a family. The parents are never quite certain whether things are working the way they had planned, and it appears to be a permanent work-in-progress. Whether in a company or a country, this is true—from an inside as well as an outside perspective. One is not sure because they are not dealing with rational inputs and predictable outcomes, but with human responses to an input with unpredictable outcomes.

Imagine you are a citizen of a great democracy, or, more appropriately, the shareholder of a long-standing company. For about seven years, a charismatic CEO and his leadership team have implemented their transformation programme, exuding confidence, panache and bravado, bordering on arrogance. The earlier leaders came from either a family-managed company or a multinational corporation. The current team prides itself on being culturally home-grown and solidly professional. The absence of influence from the West or a family is touted as an asset, further embellished through gorgeous national sartorial displays in preference to Western business suits.

After the passage of several years, the company's results are not as glamorous or appealing as the leadership team would like investors to believe. Doubts have arisen about whether the new culture being embedded is toxic and damaging to the traditional values of the reputed company. Shareholders are concerned about leadership. What are the ominous signals and symptoms that reveal an undesirable toxicity in the organisation? Here is a narrative that exemplifies the situation picturesquely as compared to a table of checklist points.

The current leadership team belongs to a particular School of Thought (SoT). Culturally, the SoT way of thinking and behaving is different from that of the family business or western MNC. This SoT produces similar-thinking alumni with a shared management ideology. The leader's charismatic and magnetic personality is a unifying point for those working in the company. While explaining the results, the leader and his team come through in some unusual but familiar ways.

Leaders blame predecessors for seven years, predecessors became regular punching bags for the top team. If only the predecessor had not left the company in such a weak and fragile condition; if only they had invested more in human capital and training; if only they had been more decisive in dealing with difficult situations; if only the predecessors had not been so docile while confronting domestic and global competition; if only they had adopted a more company-centric strategy. The list is endless. If all, or at least most of the problems, had been resolved earlier, the company would not be atoning for the multiple, grievous errors of the past. It would today be in a much stronger position on almost all parameters.

The new leaders make tall promises, yet there are doubts on delivery: They offer cogent reasons for repeatedly and continuously missing targets. According to the contemporary leadership, the leaders' senior operating colleagues are in stasis, acting with an outmoded mindset; accounts and data of the past several years need correction and restatement to mirror the current positive profit performance more accurately; competitors are hitting below the belt with unsavoury moves never witnessed before. Domestic media revel in negative reportage with no analysis on the positive actions taken and in place. The foreign press, no admirers of this fast-progressing and immensely successful company, hammer the firm in their overseas coverage. The fantastic results being achieved all the time are ignored. There is a ceaseless assault from once-in-a-century disasters caused by the global economy.

> Imagine you are a shareholder of a long-standing company, whose leaders criticise the predecessors for every malaise and blame media for negative reportage. Also, the company's results are not as glamorous as the leaders want. Would you vote for a change in the company?

The top team is articulate, yet belligerent and pugnacious: They are excellent communicators and speakers. Being alumni from the same SoT, they are all built in a vituperative mould. The chiefs who head finance, administration, human resources and public relations speak in a harsh and combative manner. They defend by attacking past leaders. This new leadership brooks little criticism. Even their media spokespersons defend the company by viciously attacking competitors.

Shareholders and the public cannot comprehend the leadership's 'brilliant, newfangled' ideas: The company periodically announces dramatic schemes to benefit stakeholders and owners. But after months of debate and protestations played out in corporate courts and media, the leadership withdraws several proposals. According to the leaders' logic, the forward-thinking proposals and actions to benefit shareholders had not been understood in the proper context. The culprits: misinformation campaigns by competitors and hostile media.

Days of wine and roses are ahead, though the better future takes time: When the current leaders were selected seven years ago, they assured the company would soon enter a golden future. After five years, they desired that the board and shareholders renew their employment contracts. They expressed confidence that magical times await the company in the next five years or even sooner. Now it appears that more than a decade is required for the change to manifest itself. The new corporate leaders proclaim—days of wine and roses are just one or two bends away.

If you were a shareholder of this company, how would you view their transformation efforts? Is the leadership acting with empathy and sensitivity for its constituents? Do such leaders evoke trust? Above all, do you regard them as a self-obsessed and harmful bunch and vote for change, even though a new uncertainty would arise with a different and unknown leadership?

Need diplomatic solution

This is with reference to the editorial Economic crisis looms large as war clouds envelop Ukraine (Feb 23). In light of heightened tensions between the West and Russia, any attempts by the US to persuade Kyiv to join NATO and condemn Moscow will not bode well. Both sides need to work on a diplomatic solution to avoid stoking inflation further. These tensions also set a precedent for an expansionist China, which is looking to invade Taiwan.

Perfected art of corruption

The article has pointed out that P Chidambaram and his cabal influenced the National Stock Exchange and showed how the NSE was defrauded. The former minister enjoys political support. Unless the investigators and judiciary are determined to take action against those responsible for the scams, the culprits, who appear to have perfected the art of corruption, will go scot-free.

Lack of allies led to loss

The DMK and its allies swept the local body polls. That the DMK's alliance with secular parties remained intact helped in the win. The AIADMK should not have contested the elections alone. The PMK and BJP parting ways with it was a big setback for the AIADMK.

Need idol wing in all states

It was agonising to read that Rabindranath Tagore's Nobel prize stolen in 2004 has not been recovered till now (Courts should hold Indian museums to account, Feb 23). The author also noted that a Kolkata museum has been functioning without a curator for almost 20 years and that it is not even ready to acknowledge the theft of a Shiva bronze. An idol wing is functioning successfully in the Tamil Nadu police department. Such a wing should be established in all states.

Cabal controlled NSE post 2014, through fake Yogi?

S GURUMURTHY
Editor, Thuglak, and commentator on economic and political affairs

NSE INVESTIGATION PART-II

THE SEBI, which was probing the NSE scam, had entrusted a Big-4 accounting firm Ernst & Young for forensic audit of the Chitra fraud. The history of the Big-4, themselves involved in global frauds, is well documented. Yet, it is a perennial disease inflicting all wings of the government as they engage a Big-4 at high fees and beseech their views. E&Y, authorised by SEBI, had had access to the NSE server and emails the SEBI itself directly did not have. SEBI relied on the emails between the fake Yogi and Chitra extracted in the E&Y report. But fortunately, unlike most clients of the Big-4 do, SEBI did not buy the fake theory trotted out by E&Y, which would eventually bail out the scamsters. In E&Y's theory, a Chitra psychologically dominated by the fake Yogi could not have been guilty as, in law, she would have had no mens rea — guilty state of mind — in her acts. SEBI rightly rejected E&Y's fake thesis, which was an attempt to whitewash the Chitra-NSE scam. But SEBI itself failed to deeply probe, as it ought to have, the contents of the emails and draw the most obvious inferences. Instead, it just used the emails to deny the claims of Chitra that the Yogi was not a physical personae. Result, the elephantine issue of cabal control of NSE through the Chitra-fake Yogi combine became merely a breach of rules of corporate governance, norms of remuneration and other piffles in its order. Read on for the most telling part of the fraud.

NSE cabal behind Yogi?

Fake Yogi 'SP's "chilling out" "swimming" "sea bath" emails to Chitra were just appetisers. His other emails clearly brought out the outsiders' role and agenda in NSE. Fun aside, by a series of serious mails, the fake Yogi instructs Chitra what NSE should do, whom to appoint, where and at what remuneration. She does as he says. First, by email of Feb 6, 'SP' names Abhay Havaldar, LIC Representative, Sadagopan, Goldman Sachs representative, SBI Nominee, Justice Srikrishna as NSE Board committee members with some Saif Nominee, some NSE officials as permanent invitees. He tells her, "Think different and you will reach MY end goal." 'MY' peculiarly in capitals cannot but have a hidden meaning, as must the 'end goal' — mysterious words. Next, even as the fake Yogi asks Chitra by mail on Feb 17 to come to Seychelles for fun, on the same day, Chitra mails for his approval of the Organogram of NSE! Forthwith he responds suggesting changes in it and making key appointments. See how he directs her to do, undo appointments — in his own words in the mail. "Bring up Lala with the current portfolio; Make Kasam Deputy head Regulatory in same grade; let Nisha handle Kasam portfolio and report to Lala; remove Kasam from structure, keep him abeyance till he leaves; designate Mayur Chief-Trading Operations in the same grade; Umesh as Chief-Information Technology; Huzan as Chief-Group Products (Debts); Ravi Varanasi as Chief BD-New Products & (SME/Education/RO Coordination)." And tells more, "remove Nagendra and separate, under promotion as Head-Equities reporting to her and remove Hari and separate, in the same grade as Head-IPO & OFS reporting to her and both should also be dotted to two others, RV/Subbu." He lists who apart from her should be spokesperson of NSE. Every suggestion is pointed and each one is clearly a command.

Look at each decision the fake Yogi gives. Clearly he actively and meticulously runs the NSE through emails to Chitra. The obvious and undeniable inference is he is an ex-insider

He directs her how to make Corporate announcements. "Promote Chandrasekhar Mukherji, Chief People's Officer," he orders. "Make Anand Subramanian, Group Operating Officer and Advisor," he directs. Chitra complies, reports back. Proposing promotions, on Feb 24, 2015 she asks, "Swami. Seek Your Guidance." The fake Yogi immediately responds saying "Some googly" using a cricketing metaphor, and even more pointedly tells her, "Continue Nagendra as AVP as Head Equities under independent charge. Once his competency is checked for one year…we can evaluate his promotion; Tojo to Kolkata and Achal to Delhi is required under promotion for strategy as Delhi government interface Achal will be a better person than others. Gaurav, wait for his response and then you will revert. Seema is a darling child, she requires polishing, everyone has a god father for his growth. For her it is ME for a commitment given yester-years, so she can be promoted and moved to SME as head and Management Representative for Business Excellence for the audit purpose reporting to RV and SS. Rachana may be moved back as Regulatory Head for WRO pending the same grade and will be promoted next year as guarantee. Anuradha may be moved to BE under Sanjay and also handle Board meetings of NSEIL and NSCCL alone as additional portfolio."

Look at each decision the fake Yogi gives. Clearly he actively and meticulously runs the NSE through his emails to Chitra. The obvious and undeniable inference is that the fake Yogi is only an ex-insider to SEBI. And yet SEBI is asking Chitra inanely how did the fake Yogi get such an intricate understanding of the NSE, and she says she must have taught him! Strange.

The next question is, could the guy be acting alone? Obviously not. Even Chitra, regarded in the world of finance as proud, even arrogant, would not take instructions from him if he were acting alone. It must be a group — read cabal — decision conveyed in one guy's name. Arguably, if not evidently, the old cabal of which Chitra, too, was an integral part must be behind the emails.

This obvious inference was precisely what E&Y sought to destroy by its fake theory that the fake Yogi was so dominating her mind that she was not in her own — to let go of all scamsters, including Chitra.

E&Y tries to bail out the cabal

A very significant element in the SEBI case is that, forced by the fake Yogi, Chitra had appointed Anand Subramanian (AS), a complete novice to NSE, as her adviser, on a fee of ₹2 crore per annum from 1.4.2013 — the same day she became MD. His fee, already the highest paid in NSE to consultants, was upped in two years to ₹4.2 crore. His income, before he joined NSE, was just ₹15 lakh a year — 1/28th of what the NSE paid. In addition, his wife was given an annual fee of ₹1 crore. AS enjoyed a position equal to Chitra's, even attended board meetings. But E&Y, dished out a fake, even foolish, theory that AS was doubling as Chitra's adviser on the one hand and the fake Yogi through email on the other, without — yes without — her knowing, and it was he (AS) who was controlling her psychologically. E&Y claimed to have secured a psychiatrist's view to support its theory. The assumption that AS and the fake Yogi are one was made because AS was the choice of the fake Yogi. However, AS was appointed on 1.4.2013, but, according to SEBI, the fake Yogi's emails started from 2014. AS' appointment predated the fake Yogi emails. More, the fake Yogi's emails testify to their video talks where he praises her looks, asks Chitra to swim, sea-bathe, and chill out with him in Seychelles, meet him in his office at Vasant Vihar on March 8, and their subsequent meeting as confirmed by her secretary. All of them completely disprove E&Y's foolish theory that AS was the fake Yogi without Chitra being at all aware. Obviously the intent of E&Y's fake theory was to limit the entire probe to AS and allow Chitra to escape. AS may hold the clue for who 'SP' is, but he cannot be 'SP' himself.

Cabal controlled NSE, post 2014?

And now the important leads that SEBI has sadly and badly missed. Both Chitra and NSE destroyed their computers that had the Yogi-Chitra mails, which could show the identity of the fake Yogi, who operated the rigjyajursama@outlook.com mail id. Chitra says, ask the NSE where the computers are, and the NSE has no answer. Computers are gone, but why did SEBI not ask the NSE or E&Y, which had had access to the NSE server, what is the IP address of the fake Yogi's id? This could unveil his identity even in the absence of computers. SEBI badly missed this basic lead. Why? Only SEBI can say. Second, the fake Yogi knows everything about NSE. Every one by name. He even identifies himself as 'the god father for Seema' 'for a commitment given (by him) to her in yesteryears'. Clearly, even Seema must know the fake Yogi and he, her. Unless the fake Yogi was in NSE how could he have given commitment to NSE staffer Seema in his 'yesteryears'? He can only be an ex-NSE insider. This is the second lead SEBI missed. Third, the fake Yogi undoubtedly resides abroad, comes to India, has an office at Vasant Vihar, Chitra fixes to meet him in Delhi on March 8. Shockingly, SEBI has not pursued this obvious lead about him.

E&Y's foolish theory that Anand Subramanian was the fake Yogi but Chitra wasn't aware of it, was aimed at limiting the entire probe and letting her off the hook

The SEBI also missed the critical fourth lead which may point to the cabal that had captured the NSE and is continuing to run it. The lead comes from the dates when the mails between the fake Yogi and Chitra began and when they stopped. SEBI order (para 9.12) says that the email id rigjyajursama@outlook.com operated from 2014 — note from 2014. Chitra became MD on April 1, 2013 — note 2013. If the fake Yogi was her spiritual guide for 20 years, would she not need his guidance right from April 1, 2013 when she became the NSE head? Surely, she must have needed his blessings and guidance most while beginning her innings. And yet till 2014 there seems to be no email guidance. While the end of the fake Yogi's emails has nexus with Chitra's sacking, its beginning has no nexus with her appointment. The beginning date of the emails between the fake Yogi and Chitra in 2014 indicates a different nexus. The nexus was the change of rule at the Centre in June 2014.

The cabal which had captured the NSE and was directing it for a decade, had lost its political power and backing in Delhi and a new government had come in. Here comes the crucial question: when the actual control of the cabal from Delhi was lost, was virtual control through fake Yogi's emails put in place by the cabal? The fake Yogi's emails ended when Chitra, a core member of it in the NSE, was sacked in 2016. This compelling nexus between the change of rule at the Centre and the beginning of the emails was missed by SEBI. The Chitra-NSE fraud of 2013-16 has the potential to unveil the cabal and open up COLO and other past scams of the NSE snakepit.

QED: Hardened offenders like the NSE cabal that had direct link with Delhi cannot be probed by civil law tribunals like SEBI. Coercive police powers, arrest, custodial interrogations as the law permits and even mandates to check crimes are needed to unravel their wrong-doings. The time has come to target and smash the cabal which not only managed to escape the COLO probe by SEBI, but seems to have entrenched itself in control of NSE even after June 2014.

Pawar in parleys post Malik arrest, gets Mamata call

MVA members condemn 'vindictive' ploy, say minister won't be axed from cabinet

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI & PRANAB MONDAL @Mumbai/Kolkata

THE arrest of Maharashtra minister Nawab Malik by the ED led to hectic parleys featuring NCP chief Sharad Pawar. Malik belongs to NCP. He holds the skill development portfolio and the minority affairs department in the Shiv Sena-led MVA government.

Pawar held conversations at his residence with some ministers. He also got a call from West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, who urged him not to drop Malik from the cabinet. Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray also held meetings with senior cabinet colleagues.

Pawar called it a ploy of BJP to connect a Muslim to underworld don Dawood Ibraheem. "The world knows that Nawab Malik was vocal against the misuse of central agencies. Therefore, he has been targeted. This is a deliberate act and blatant misuse of central agencies. We all are with Malik," Pawar said.

Shiv Sena leader Sanjay Raut said they are ready to sacrifice their lives but will not succumb to the pressure tactics. "The Uddhav Thackeray government will complete five years despite pressure from central agencies and this witch hunt. We will fight. Today, BJP is in power, but in 2024, we will be in power. We will repay everything with interest," Raut said.

NCP minister Chagan Bhujbal said Malik is not going to resign. "We will not allow BJP the sadistic pleasure by asking Malik to resign. Allegations against him are politically motivated. He exposed the Narcotic Control Bureau. So action was taken against him in a 20-year-old property deal."

Mamata called up Pawar and discussed what could be done. "In a conversation with Pawar that lasted around 10 minutes, Mamata expressed her concern. She said this is nothing but BJP using central agencies against oppression parties. She also expressed her support and solidarity. She raised the issue that all oppositions parties should stand together against the BJP-led Central government because of such vindictive acts," said a senior TMC leader in Kolkata.

In the recent past, Mamata has on several occasions criticised BJP for using central agencies to fulfill their political goals. The CBI and the ED are probing chit fund cases against many TMC leaders and also investigating the Narada sting operation case, in which several TMC MLAs are accused.

Have to own property to run liquor vend in J&K

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Jammu and Kashmir government has released a new excise policy. Under it, only J&K domiciles who have immovable property in the UT can participate in the bid process to own liquor outlets. Also, one person cannot own more than one liquor vend. This will come into effect from April 1.

Under the new policy, more liquor vends can be opened at tourist places in the UT. Unveiled by Additional Chief Secretary (Finance) Atal Dulloo, 51 new vends will be opened — 45 in Jammu and six in Kashmir.

"In order to obviate the possibility of cartelisation and monopolistic practices, only one location will be allotted to a bidder for which his/her bid is the highest," reads the policy.

It further states that in order to ensure transparency in the allotment of vends, a bidder should have immovable property in J&K UT worth up to 100 per cent of the bid value. They also have to produce property certificates from the competent authority. "The bidder should not be a tax defaulter under different acts governing J&K."

To ensure that rules are not flouted and the auctions happens in a transparent manner, the policy states an e-auction portal would be operated by J&K Bank as a third party nodal agency.

The policy encourages local production by exempting export duty on all kinds of liquor. The Earnest Money Deposit has been increased from ₹5 lakh to ₹7 lakh. There is also a Minimum Guaranteed Revenue of 10%.

The excise policy makes it clear that authorities are targetting tourist spots. "The Excise Department shall offer/facilitate setting up of liquor vends having high revenue potential in tourist locations in the government owned/maintained tourist facilities of JKTDC/Tourism Department/Tourism Development authorities wherever possible," states the policy.

Also, there shallww be a ban on import of JMFL brands having MRP of up to ₹600 per bottle into J&K to protect the local industry. The objective of the policy is to encourage transition from high to low alcohol-content beverages, provide a wide variety of brands and create more places for consumption to consumers.

CONCERNS FLAGGED

31 infrastructure projects through wildlife haven

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

WITH 31 infrastructure projects criss-crossing through a wildlife sanctuary having a flourishing tiger population in Madhya Pradesh and a panel of the environment ministry recommending another four-lane national highway expansion project, some members have called for a report on the cumulative impact of these projects on the sanctuary.

The Ratapani Wildlife Sanctuary, which is in process of being notified as a tiger reserve, was found to have over 45 tigers in 2018. This number has reportedly increased to around 70.

The Standing Committee of the National Board for Wildlife at its recent meeting considered diversion of 24.186 hectares from the sanctuary for four-laning of 12 km stretch on the Obedullaganj-Betul section of NH69 in Madhya Pradesh and recommended it with some conditions. The meeting was chaired by Union Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav.

Dr HS Singh, one of the committee members, flagged concerns at the meeting. "As 31 project proposals have been recommended through the sanctuary, there should be a comprehensive report on the cumulative impact of these projects." UD Singh, another member, said that since there is tiger movement in the area, mitigation measures may once again be verified.

Yadav observed that the concerns raised by some members needs to be addressed and suggested that the Chief WildLife Warden should submit a comprehensive status report in this regard.

The Chief WildLife Warden (CWW) informed that the proposal has been recommended with an animal passage plan, which has been prepared in accordance with the guidance document prepared by the Wildlife Institute of India (WII) and after joint inspection with the officials of NHAI.

Bird flu situation being monitored

New Delhi: No human infection of bird flu has been reported in the country, but the Union health ministry is monitoring the situation after an outbreak of the highly contagious H5N1 was reported from poultry farms in Maharashtra and Bihar. According to sources in the ministry, the situation is being mnitored. India, for the first time, reported one case of human infection last year. The patient died after a month. India has been reporting bird flu cases since 2006 "We are monitoring the situation, but there is no need to panic," the official said, adding that there does not seem to be any possibility of human-to-human transmission at this stage.

'Will win all seats in Lakhimpur Kheri'

UP CM Yogi Adityanath says his '80 vs 20' statement misinterpreted, criminals are in the open after getting SP tickets

AS the high-pitch Uttar Pradesh Assembly election enters its final phases, both the ruling BJP and main opposition Samajwadi Party are locked in a bitter fight in several constituencies. While the SP has largely stuck to its initial poll narrative of farmers' distress, the saffron camp has freshly brought up subjects such as terrorism and Hijab into the discourse. In an interview to Namita Bajpai, Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath speaks about the chances of his party retaining power in the Hindi-heartland state.

With the polls crossing the halfway-mark, where do you find the BJP standing?
We are going ahead with the agenda of nationalism, development and law and order. We are coming back winning 80 per cent of seats in the state as the people have confidence that BJP can deliver on both security and development.

Your statement over 80 per cent vs 20 per cent has drawn strong reactions?
I have been saying right from the beginning that this is a tussle between 80 per cent and 20 per cent. People have interpreted this in their own perspectives. What I meant was that the BJP would win 80 per cent seats and in the rest 20 per cent, all others would try to place their feet.

The polls have become more or less bipolar between the BJP and the SP. Will this impact your prospects?
In the 2019 general elections, SP and BSP had come together to stitch a mahagathbandhan (grand alliance). Even RLD was a part of it and the Congress had a tacit understanding with them. It turned out to be a bipolar contest of BJP vs all. In that election, the BJP had taken lead in 287-290 Assembly segments. It was neither a triangular nor a four-corner fight then. It was a straight fight and we won 80 per cent of the Lok Sabha seats. Rest of the 20 per cent was divided among others. Ironically, the SP, leading the grand alliance, had slipped to number three position, BSP was ahead of it.

Will the SP-RLD alliance impact your party in western UP?
RLD was with the SP in previous Lok Sabha elections as well. The results were there for everyone to see.

Do you think Lakhimpur Kheri incident has been an election issue?
The BJP is winning all seats of Lakhimpur Kheri district. I have campaigned in all the seats and there is no doubt about party's victory there with good margins.

Why has there been an apparent shift from development to law and order in BJP's narrative?
Development becomes real and meaningful only when the poor feel protected. Rule of law is the basic tenet of good governance. So we focused on law and order. We have made the state curfew-free, riot-free and fearless. There has been no riot and hence no prolonged curfews during the last five years. We have instilled confidence in girls who can now step out freely at any time. It was beyond imagination before 2017. I have never missed discussion on development and welfare of the deprived in my discourse. Possibly, this is the first election post-Independence when people are acknowledging openly that law and order has improved genuinely on the ground.

We have made the state riot-free and curfew-free. We have instilled confidence in girls who can now step out freely at any time

Your poll speeches reflect that you are back to hard line and aggressiveness?
There is neither a hard line nor a soft line in BJP. We have only single line shown by Lord Ram to rid the earth of demons or the one shown by Lord Krishna in Bhagwad Gita -- Paritranaya Sadhunam (for the welfare of holy people). We follow these philosophies. We work to ensure a peaceful life for people by bringing anti-social elements and criminals in the ambit of law.

SP chief Akhilesh Yadav feels that your statement — Garmi Utar Jayegi — has offended many...
Naturally, the statement will annoy them. The reason is that all those who used to resort to lawlessness and intimidation of others are associated with them. Be it the person behind Kairana migration or rioters inciting trouble from Saharanpur in west to Mau in east or even professional criminals and mafia who were hiding in their confines for the last five years, they all have come out after getting tickets from the Samajwadi Party.

Do you think the Supreme Court order to withdraw recovery notices against anti-CAA protestors will have any impact on BJP's prospects?
No impact. The state government has already been working on the issue. When anti-CAA riots were plotted here, we had issued an order to handle the situation. Later, we brought an Act in 2020. The government, under the Act, has already set up three tribunals. Some of the cases had been handed over to the tribunals and the rest were in the process of withdrawal when the SC order came. The apex court has permitted us to act under the Uttar Pradesh Recovery of Damages to Public and Private Property Act -2020

Stray cattle is a big issue in this election?
It is not a new issue. It has always been there and is not only limited to UP. Secondly, should we allow the slaughter of Gau Mata? We have closed illegal slaughterhouses and I say with conviction that illegal slaughterhouses will not be allowed to operate. Moreover, we have done a lot for the rehabilitation of shelterless cattle. At present, we are taking care of nine lakh stray cattle, of which one lakh have been given to farmers to look after. We give an allowance of ₹900 per month per cattle to the farmers. Under the guidance of the PM, a new model to deal with the issue is ready in Kashi and it will be implemented in each UP district.

Your statement over Hijab row has created a flutter. Your take on this?
I think personalised attire should be limited to places where there is no defined dress code or uniform. Everyone should abide by a dress code in the institutions where it is well defined as it is a matter of discipline. It should not have been made an issue at all as there can be no alternative to discipline. So, I feel that the system in the country will be run according to the Constitution and not the personal laws.

Why has Aparna Yadav not been given ticket?
Aparna Yadav didn't join the BJP for ticket. She has made it clear that she joined the BJP as PM Modi's 'nation first' sentiment moved her. The party will certainly think about her in the coming days.

How do you intend to address anti-incumbency against MLAs in various Assembly segments?
Look, people have to vote for the formation of next government and it will be done if we get adequate number of MLAs. At least two years of our tenure went in the management of Covid pandemic. BJP MLAs have done a good job but many of them might not have come up to people's expectations. I appeal to people to vote for the BJP government and I assure that the government will address all the issues which the people feel their MLAs couldn't address in their respective constituencies.

Manipur wants issues fixed, does not care who wins

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR
@ Moirang/Bishnupur/Nambol (Manipur)

I don't have the numbers but the BJP is known to talk big. Modiji came and said every household will have access to tap water. I get it twice a month
N Singh, autorikshaw driver in Moirang

K INAOCHA Singh is upset that the price of urea has shot up manifold under the present BJP-led dispensation in Manipur. He wants the next government — whichever party forms it — to stabilise the price for the benefit of retailers like him as well as the farmers. The government rate for a 45kg bag of urea is ₹270 but Singh alleged it was being sold at ₹1,400 in black market.

"There is black-marketing. It is sold to people in Burma (Myanmar) and other places," the man from Moirang tells this newspaper.

"Look at my shop. I have everything except urea. It is so essential to farmers," he said, pointing to the miscellaneous items stacked on the floor and the shelves. Singh said if he purchased urea at the price of black market and sold it with a marginal profit, the police would come, pick him up. "The government has no plans for the farmers," he claims.

Recently, Congress leader Jairam Ramesh had accused the BJP-led government of diverting its quota of urea to the state's hill districts where poppy is allegedly grown for opium. He said although Manipur was getting twice the supply of urea it needed, the farmers complained of shortage. He alleged the government was fully complicit in this.

The former Union minister's barbs were based on the statement of Loumi Shimee Apunba Lup, an Imphal-based farmers' body, which had received complaints over shortage of urea due to smuggling. The farmers had staged protests over the issue.

During a recent visit to the state, PM Narendra Modi had claimed 60 per cent of the households in Manipur had been covered with tap water under the Jal Jeevan Mission. However, an auto-rickshaw driver, who identified himself as N Singh, alleged the services had been erratic.

"I don't have the numbers but the BJP is known to talk big. Modi*ji* came and said every household would have access to tap water. I get it twice a month," Singh says.

"Modi*ji* keeps visiting foreign countries. He is concerned only about the rich. His government proposed to hand over the Bir Tikendrajit International Airport of Imphal to a private party. People are angry," Singh adds.

TNIE @ GROUND ZERO

Perhaps, it is for fear or their disinterest in politics that not many people come forward and talk to journalists freely. Some, who do, say there is no difference among political parties. They allege merit does not count in Manipur and one is required to shell out lakhs of rupees to get a government job. The locals also complain of bad roads in pockets, alleged deprivation of the beneficiaries of government's welfare schemes, etc.

However, the government earns praise for "Chief Minister-gi Hakshelgi Tengbang (CMHT)" scheme and the "Go To Hills" initiative. The CMHT is a health insurance scheme that provides cashless treatment to the poor and cover up to ₹2 lakh per eligible family per year. "I appreciate the health insurance scheme. If not many, some people have reaped the benefit," the auto-rickshaw driver says.

There has always been a divide between the Meitei-majority Imphal Valley and tribal-majority hills.

Jamuna Devi of Moirang is effusive in her praise of the state government for its efforts to bridge the gap with the "Go To Hills" initiative. She also praises it for providing rice to the poor at ₹3 per kg.

Meanwhile, although the polls are round the corner, there is hardly any campaigning. The only signs of the polls are the posters of political parties, particularly BJP and Congress, put up here and there. The ordinary people are visibly least bothered about who will come to power.

SP chief Akhilesh Yadav at an election rally in Barabanki on Wednesday | PTI

'Yogi has booked Gorakhpur flight for March 11'

LUCKNOW: SP chief Akhilesh Yadav on Wednesday claimed his party-led alliance will score a double-century of seats by the fourth phase of UP polls.

Taking a dig at CM Yogi Adityanath, Akhilesh said the former has "booked a plane ticket from Lucknow to Gorakhpur" for March 11. Akhilesh's jibe comes in the backdrop of BJP leaders putting out multiple posts alleging that the SP chief is flying to London after the election results are out.

Mocking Union Home Minister Amit Shah over his reported promise of providing laptops to those who take "admission in Inter after passing class 12", Akhilesh said, "He said those who take admission in Inter after Class 12 will be given laptops. Good that he did not say those doing class 10 after Inter will get a laptop, else people would be perturbed." Yadav was addressing a rally in Bahraich district. ENS

Hints of old allies SAD, BJP mulling post-poll alliance to form govt

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

A fortnight before the vote count begins, there are indications that erstwhile alliance partners in Punjab, the Shiromani Akali Dal and the BJP, are getting closer for a post-poll alliance to form a coalition government, if the numbers allow. The two were allies for more than 20 years before parting ways in 2020 over farm laws.

Sources in both the parties said that there was a strong likelihood that if SAD gets a respectable number of seats and the BJP hits double digits, then both might again come together to form a collation government.

"We heard reports that for swing votes in some constituencies, an understanding between these parties already existed," said a leader on the condition of anonymity.

A senior state BJP leader hinted as much, saying the conjectured coming together could mean keeping the "divisive forces" at bay. Replying to a query on why the BJP, which broke off with SAD to be able to stand on its two feet, would again piggyback on the old ally, he pointed out that the two sides had to weigh various pre and post poll alliance scenarios.

A senior SAD leader said the prospective alliance could have some value if the two sides have enough numbers. "We opposed the farm laws and walked out of the more than two-decade-old alliance. We have to take into account the fact that these laws no longer exist and the farmers' stir is over," he said.

Sources said that a sign of breakthrough over sewing up the old alliance came when the saffron party's top leadership met Sikh religious leaders. Home Minister Amit Shah had also met Akal Takht Jathedar Harpreet Singh and also Radha Soami Satsang Beas chief Baba Gurinder Singh Dhillon. A few days ago, PM Modi had met Dhillon in Delhi.

On record BJP national general secretary Tarun Chug expressed confidence that his party would form the government. "Let the results come, we'll take the final call." Ditto with SAD whose spokesperson Dr Daljeet Singh Cheema predicted SAD-BSP victory.

Govt wants to make Manipur India's sports hub: Shah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Imphal

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah tried to warm up to the voters of Manipur on Wednesday with sops for the promotion of sports. He said the country is proud of Manipur's sporting talents such as boxers Mary Kom and Laishram Sarita Devi, weightlifter Mirabai Chanu, and archer Bombayla Devi.

"We want to make Manipur India's sports hub. Prime Minister Narendra Modiji had set up the Manipur Sports University which is spread across 325 acres of land. The Centre has invested ₹800 crore for this project. This is a big step," Shah told a crowd at a rally in the hill town of Churachandpur where tribal Kukis are in a majority.

He disclosed that the Centre has now decided to set up a 'Khelo India' centre each in Manipur's 16 districts to give the youth a platform to hone their sporting talent. "We have identified a 10-acre plot which will be equipped with all facilities to upgrade the state-level players to international-level players," the Union minister further said.

He sought five more years, promising that the Centre would hold talks with the Kuki extremist groups, so no Kuki youth wields the gun. He said the Centre had done this in Assam's Bodo and Kuki areas.

New policy allows foreigners to invest in J&K industrial sector

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE Lt-Governor administration has paved the way for foreigners to invest in Jammu and Kashmir. A policy for promotion of foreign investment in the industrial sector in the Union Territory was approved at a meeting of the Administrative Council (AC), headed by L-G Manoj Sinha and comprising Advisors to the L-G, Farooq Khan and Rajeev Rai Bhatnagar, Chief Secretary Arun Kumar Mehta and Principal Secretary to the L-G, Nitishwar Kumar.

An official spokesman said the new policy is based on the guiding framework on FDI issued by the Centre through the RBI and Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) and will be valid for the next 10 years.

"It aims to facilitate investments worth over ₹100 crore with a minimum of 51% foreign stakes," he said.

The policy provides for identifying parcels of land in various industrial estates to be given exclusively to industries with foreign investments, including vertical rise premises in the form of multi-purpose buildings/complexes, with plug and play facilities.

The land allotment process will be regulated by J&K Industrial Land Allotment Policy, 2021-30. Such units will also be eligible for benefits, incentives and support under the Jammu and Kashmir Industrial Policy 2021-30 and New Central Sector Scheme for the industrial development of J&K.

"For optimal utilisation of land resources and to provide integrated services to multiple players, the policy also envisages the establishment of multipurpose complexes for foreign investment by developing IT tower projects through private players in Sempora, Pampore, in Kashmir and Exhibition Ground, Jammu. These towers will house different business activities and will form a part of the 'Industrial Complex for Foreign Investment'," added the official.

HC verdict may see some newly recruited govt officials ousted

RANCHI: A two-judge bench of Jharkhand High Court on Wednesday rejected the final result of sixth civil services examination conducted by the Jharkhand Public Service Commission (JPSC).

The JPSC will now have to publish fresh, revised result which may oust some of the successful candidates who are already posted at different locations.

A total of 326 candidates were declared successful in the JPSC examination. The order has upheld the single bench order asking JPSC to publish a revised merit list strictly in accordance with clause 13 without adding the marks of qualifying papers. ENS

Russian soldiers await orders at Ukraine border

Rostov in tense mood of anticipation as refugees continue to leave separatist statelets and military convoys gather

ROSTOV REGION

IN a roadside cafe a few dozen kilometres from the border between Russia and rebel-held areas in Ukraine, some Russian soldiers were eating as they rested, the smell of frying in the air.

"Thank you, we'll come back," said one of them as he got up after finishing his cheburek — a type of fried turnover filled with meat and onion.

Another soldier knocked at the door of a small room where a team of journalists sat working — the only civilian customers seen on Wednesday at the cafe. "Do you want to buy some dry rations?" he asked.

On a screen above, some soldiers could be seen running in a muddy field. But it was just a video of the 1980s British rock classic In the Army Now by Status Quo.

Outside in the village, soldiers were everywhere — some wearing camouflage hats, others in army-issue grey synthetic fur hats. They smoked in the parking lot, drank their coffee or kept busy working on the military vehicles on flatbed train wagons parked in railway sidings stretching for hundreds of metres. The wagons carried rocket launchers, artillery pieces and fuel tanks. On the road leading to the border, empty heavy military trucks and a convoy of military green-coloured vehicles crossed paths.

Russia's Rostov region, which borders the separatist republics of Donetsk and Lugansk, was silent and shrouded in heavy fog on Wednesday — a Russian public holiday celebrating the military.

After being crossed in recent days by thousands of refugees leaving the separatist statelets one way and military convoys heading the other way, the region is now in a mood of tense anticipation.

Russia has massed some 1,50,000 soldiers on Ukraine's borders, according to Western estimates. It has said it is prepared to send in troops, ostensibly to protect Donetsk and Lugansk after recognising their independence this week, raising fears of an all-out war with Ukraine.

The separatist conflict in the eastern Ukraine, which has dragged on since 2014, has already claimed more than 14,000 lives. A group of middle-aged men passed the time playing football. Valery Belik, a 52-year-old retired policeman, was in goal. "Of course, we are all worried for the People's Republic of Donetsk, for Lugansk. "It's a shame for people who are suffering the terror of a war that Ukrainian authorities have unleashed," he said, echoing the Kremlin message of Russia coming to the aid of the separatists against supposed Ukrainian aggression.

On the way to the border, a bus was parked on the side of the road. "I went to pick up my Russian passport," said Grigory, a 35-year-old mechanic from Shakhtarsk, located in one of the rebel regions. "I am a bit afraid to go back, we hear shooting and explosions," he said. "But my family is there. I won't leave. My work, my whole life are there."

In the last village before the border, Valentina Druzhinenko, a 75-year-old pensioner, sat on a bench with her neighbour. She had mixed feelings about Russian President Vladimir Putin's move to recognise the independence of the separatists this week.

"I understand the consequences, they will be terrible," she said. "Our grandchildren will not be able to handle them. "But if Vladimir Putin did it, it means it was necessary. I respect and love him." AFP

US says Russian force 'near 100%' for invasion

Washington: The United States said on Wednesday that Russian President Vladimir Putin is "as ready as he can be" for a full-scale invasion of Ukraine, with nearly 100% of the necessary military forces already in place. "We assess today that he is near 100% of all the forces that we anticipated that he would move in. He is dang near at 100%," a US defense official said. "He is as ready as he can be," the official said. "Whether they actually go or not is really up to Putin ... They could go at any hour now." AFP

Cuba urges US, NATO to address Russia demands

Havana: Cuba on Wednesday urged the US and NATO to respond "seriously and realistically" to Russian demands for "security guarantees" and called for a diplomatic solution as tensions over Ukraine reach fever pitch. Havana in a statement pointed to what it said was the United States' "determination to impose the progressive expansion of NATO towards the borders of the Russian Federation" which it said constituted "a threat to the national security" of its ally. Chained woman in China was trafficked, say officials

TAIPEI

CHINESE authorities have detained six people and fired eight lower-level Communist Party officials in the investigation of the case of a trafficked woman that caused national outrage and frustration.

Just days before the Lunar New Year holiday, a video circulated of a woman chained to a small shed. The video, filmed by a blogger, drew questions and concerns as the blogger said the woman was the mother of eight children. But when officials responded with a series of inconsistent statements, the Chinese public grew angrier, demanding accountability.

Authorities on Wednesday confirmed the identity of the woman in the video, who became known as Little Plum Blossom. She was from a village in Yunnan, authorities said, and she had been trafficked multiple times.

The woman was born in 1977, and was first married in 1995. She divorced in 1997 and returned to Yagu village in Yunnan. A year later, a woman brought her from her village in Yunnan all the way to coastal Jiangsu province, about 2,000km away, under the guise of getting medical treatment. But Sang then sold Little Plum Blossom to a man in Donghai county for 5,000 yuan ($790).

According to Jiangsu authorities, Sang and her husband had both been sentenced to jail in 2000 for trafficking girls — one for five years and the other for seven. Both were arrested by authorities on Tuesday. After just a few months with the man in Donghai county, Little Plum Blossom disappeared one morning. How she ended up in Feng county, where the video showing her chained up was shot, was the result of further trafficking, the report said. A couple who ran a hotel in neighbouring Henan found the woman wandering as a beggar and had reportedly taken her in.

After a month, they sold her to a construction foreman who then sold her to a man in Feng county. This man in Feng county then sold her to the family that she would 'marry into' and end up having eight children in. Investigators said this chain of events was still under examination. AP

UN VOTES TO END IRAQ'S AID OBLIGATIONS TO KUWAIT

UNITED NATIONS

THE United Nations Security Council voted unanimously on Tuesday to end Iraq's requirement to compensate victims of its 1990 invasion of Kuwait, with Baghdad having out more than $50 billion to 1.5 million claimants.

Michael Gaffey, Ireland's ambassador to the UN and president of the governing board of the UN Compensation Commission, whose fund decided on the claims, told the council after the vote that the body's work was historic "for the United Nations and for effective multilateralism".

"Ultimately, 2.7 million claims were submitted to the commission seeking $352 billion in compensation," he said, and the $52.4 billion awarded to 1.5 million claimants "represents approximately 15% of the total claims."

Under a Security Council resolution adopted in April 1991 after a US-led coalition routed Saddam Hussein's forces and liberated Kuwait in the first Gulf War, Iraq was required to set aside a percentage of proceeds from its oil exports for the fund to compensate victims of the conflict.

Gaffey said the governing council adopted its final decision on Saturday declaring that Iraq's government had fulfilled its international obligations to compensate for losses and damages suffered as a direct result of its unlawful invasion of Kuwait.

He said the decision marked a significant step in the evolution of international claims practice. AFP

Gambia urges UN court to continue Rohingya case

THE HAGUE

LAWYERS for Gambia on Wednesday urged the UNs' top court to throw out Myanmar's legal bid to end a case accusing the Southeast Asian nation of genocide against the country's Rohingya minority.

"This court must reject Myanmar's meritless preliminary objections and proceed to adjudicate the merits of this dispute," Gambia's Attorney General and Justice Minister Dawda Jallow told judges at the International Court of Justice.

Lawyer Paul S Reichler said the military takeover of power in Myanmar last year made the case all the more important as the country's new rulers are alleged to be behind the atrocities committed against the Rohingya. "If they can escape the court's jurisdiction, they will be accountable to no one and there will be no constraints on their persecution and ultimate destruction of the Rohingya," he warned.

The case stems from what the Myanmar military called a clearance campaign it launched in Rakhine in 2017 after an attack by a Rohingya insurgent group. Security forces were accused of mass rapes, killings and torching thousands of homes as more than 7,00,000 Rohingya fled into neighbouring Bangladesh. AP

25 years on, Legion of Christ victims seek reparations

VATICAN CITY

A CONNECTICUT newspaper exposed one of the Catholic Church's biggest sexual abuse scandals by reporting 25 years ago on Wednesday that eight men had accused the revered founder of the Legion of Christ religious order of raping and molesting them when they were boys preparing for the priesthood. It took a decade for the Vatican to sanction the founder, Rev. Marcial Maciel, and another decade for the Legion to admit he was a serial pedophile who had violated at least 60 boys. In the meantime, the original whistleblowers suffered a defamation campaign by the Legion, which branded them liars bent on creating a conspiracy to hurt a man considered a living saint.

As they marked the quarter-century anniversary of the lengthy expose by investigative journalists Jason Berry and the late Gerald Renner for The Hartford Courant, three of Maciel's victims are still seeking reparations from the Legion to compensate for the abuse they suffered and the 'moral' harm done to their reputations by the order. They had refused earlier compensation offers that their fellow survivors accepted, and a mediation process begun in 2019 has stalled.

In 2020, the Legion publicly retracted the "negative institutional and personal judgments about the character and motivations of the people who made legitimate and necessary accusations". Naming the original victims, it said "today we recognise as prophetic their accusations in favour of truth and justice". But Jose Barba, one of the most vocal of the original eight survivors, wants the Legion to formally retract what he calls the 'lies' the order provided to the Courant to discredit him and the other victims.

While they are hailed by ex-Legionaries as 'los 8 Magnificos' (the Magnificent Eight) for having stood up to Maciel and the order, Barba recalls a November 8, 1997 letter he and the others wrote to John Paul, translated into Polish, asking for the pope to hear their pain and do something. AP

Macron to kick off re-election bid in March

Paris: French President Emmanuel Macron will launch his re-election bid at a campaign rally on March 5, sources in his party said on Wednesday, opening a new phase in a contest that polls indicate he is likely to win. Polls have steadily put Macron on top in the first round of voting, against a diverse field of rivals on both the left and right. Yet they also suggest securing a second five-year term in the run-off vote is far from a foregone conclusion, as the far right continues to make inroads. AFP

Nigeria destroys 630 acres of cannabis fields

Lagos: Nigeria's drug agency said on Wednesday that it had destroyed 630 acres of cannabis fields and arrested 13 people in the southwestern state of Ondo. Cultivation and consumption of marijuana have escalated in Africa's most populous country in recent years, despite being illegal. "Operatives of the National Drug Law Enforcement Agency, NDLEA, in a major operation that lasted seven days, have destroyed a total of 255 hectares of cannabis farms," spokesman Femi Babafemi said. Donald Trump's DNA sought in defamation suit

NEW YORK

A LAWYER for a woman who accused former President Donald Trump of raping her in the mid-1990s and then filed a defamation lawsuit against him said Tuesday she will not seek to depose Trump prior to trial because it would cause unnecessary delay, but she added that a DNA sample was still being sought.

Attorney Roberta Kaplan first made the revelation in Manhattan federal court during a pretrial hearing before explaining the decision to reporters outside court as her client, E. Jean Carroll, stood by her side. A deposition, Kaplan said, would inevitably result in an inordinate amount of delay. "We want the case to go forward," she said.

Attorney Alina Habba, who represented Trump at the hearing, said outside court that she had not heard before that Carroll's lawyers did not want a deposition, a proceeding in which lawyers in civil cases question likely witnesses under oath prior to trial. As for a DNA sample, Habba said that none had been demanded. PTI

'Risky' disclaimer must for crypto ads: ASCI

Advertising regulatory body issues guidelines for ads to be implemented from April 1; exchanges welcome move

UMA KANNAN @Bengaluru

FOR a few months now, advertisements on crypto exchanges have flooded TV screens and keeping investors' interest in mind, the Advertising Standards Council of India (ASCI), the advertising industry's self-governing body, has said that all ads for virtual digital assets (VDA) should put disclaimers.

"Crypto products and NFTs are unregulated and can be highly risky. There may be no regulatory recourse for any loss from such transactions." ASCI has said that such a disclaimer must be made and the words 'currency', 'securities', 'custodian' and 'depositories' should be used in advertisements of VDA products or services as consumers associate these terms with regulated products.

Due diligence must before endorsements

Since VDA is a risky category, celebrities or prominent personalities who appear in such ads must take special care to ensure that they have done their due diligence about the statements and claims made in the advertisement, so as not to mislead consumers.

Also, since VDA is a risky category, celebrities or prominent personalities who appear in such ads must take special care to ensure that they have done their due diligence about the statements and claims made in the advertisement, so as not to mislead consumers, ASCI said in its guidelines.

The guidelines will be applicable to all advertisements released or published on or after 1, April 2022. ASCI also said that these guidelines do not amount to any legal recognition or endorsement of the industry or the sector, as that is a matter of government policy.

Edul Patel CEO and Co-Founder, Mudrex, a crypto investing platform said, these are definitely a progressive step towards protecting the consumer interest. "It can also get the NFT industry under one roof. The ASCI has consulted the industry before forming the guidelines which is really a good move. This can also encourage the crypto enthusiasts... It is a great boost for the crypto spectrum," Patel said.

CoinDCX, which is a member of ASCI, said the new guidelines add in more clarity. The exchange said it has been following some internal guardrails to be transparent.

FOR MISAPPROPRIATION OF FUNDS

Wife of BharatPe co-founder sacked

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

FINTECH firm BharatPe has fired co-founder Ashneer Grover's wife Madhuri Jain over "misappropriation of funds". This move comes at a time when the company is awaiting an external audit report, which will be out in a few days.

A source aware of the development said the company has found certain financial irregularities and that she used funds for personal purchases, including for beauty regimens. Madhuri Jain was controller of finance at the company.

When contacted, BharatPe confirmed that Jain has been terminated. "We can confirm that services of Madhuri Jain Grover have been terminated in accordance with the terms of her employment agreement," the company said. Also, the source said that she is not key management personnel and so there is no need to wait till the audit report is tabled.

Soon after her termination, Jain on Twitter posted many videos of parties that took place at BharatPe's office and took a dig at the CEO.

Earlier in January, Ashneer Grover informed the board that he will take a voluntary leave of absence from BharatPe till the end of March and will be back on April 1. The very next day, his wife too was sent on leave.

A week after Grover's voluntary leave, the BharatPe board started an independent audit of the firm's internal process and appointed Alvarez and Marsal, a management consultant and risk advisory firm, to advise the board.

Two weeks ago, BharatPe CEO Suhail Sameer in a letter to employees had said that many of the findings of the review are pretty standard, and there are a "couple of more allegations, which the review is still substantiating."

POST NCLAT CASE

SC defers hearing on Amazon's plea

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday deferred the hearing on Amazon's plea saying it will hear on a dispute between the e-commerce major and Future Group post a decision by the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) where Amazon has challenged a December order by the Competition Commission of India (CCI).

Amazon had filed a plea in the apex court against the Delhi High Court order, which stayed the ongoing arbitration proceedings before an arbitral tribunal over Future Retail's deal with Reliance.

NCLAT is scheduled to hear Amazon's challenge to the CCI order on February 25.

While Amazon has challenged the CCI order, Future group has cited the CCI order for seeking termination of the arbitration proceedings.

Supreme Court will now hear the matter on March 9, 2022.

In December last year, the Competition Commission of India suspended its over-two-year-old approval for Amazon's deal to acquire a 49% stake in FCPL and FRL promoter, and also slapped a penalty of ₹202 crore on the e-commerce major. Future and Amazon have been entangled in a legal tussle over the sale of Future's retail assets to Mukesh Ambani-led Reliance Industries Ltd. The deal is being opposed by Amazon which argues that FRL violated their contract.

₹18k cr recovered from Mallya, Modi and Choksi

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday informed the Supreme Court that ₹18,000 crore have been returned to the banks in the case of fugitive business tycoons - Vijay Mallya, Nirav Modi, and Mehul Choksi.

While Mallya, the liquor baron and promoter of defunct Kingfisher Airline, who owes over ₹9,000 crore to a consortium of banks in principal and interest left India in March

2016, diamond merchant Nirav Modi and Mehul Choksi, who are wanted in India for their alleged role in one of India's largest bank fraud, totalling some ₹14,000 crore, had left India in early 2018

The Centre also informed the Supreme Court on Wednesday that 4,700 cases are being investigated by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) as on date, and only 313 people have been arrested for the alleged offences since the enactment of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) in 2002.

The total amount covered by interim orders of no coercive action passed by the courts in such matters is around ₹67,000 crore, Solicitor General Tushar Mehta told the bench headed by Justice AM Khanwilkar.

The apex court is dealing with a batch of petitions concerning the interpretation of certain provisions of the PMLA. Some of the petitioners had argued that there cannot be "mechanical lodging" of an enforcement case information report (ECIR) as the PMLA requires that there must be some indication of the act of money laundering and projecting the proceeds of crime as untainted.

TELECOM TALES

5G spectrum should be free of cost, says Airtel

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

SUNIL Mittal-led-Bharti Airtel on Wednesday urged the government to provide 5G spectrum free of cost to the telecom operators in order to take the 5G services in every part of the country. Airtel Chief Executive Officer Gopal Vittal said the amount meant for buying spectrum can be invested in the capex rather than on spectrum. "One of the ideas I would like to propose today is to actually take a particular band. Let's say 700 megahertz band and allocate it with a very stringent obligation. But do that free of cost so that we can invest the money in the access and the capex rather than on spectrum. This is just one idea to offer in order to take it to every part of the country," said Vittal

Let's say 700 megahertz band and allocate it with a very stringent obligation. But do that free of cost so that we can invest the money in the access and the capex rather than on spectrum

Gopal Vittal, Airtel CEO

Telecom operators have urged the government to cut the base price of spectrum by more than half for the upcoming 5G auction on many occasions in the past.

Vittal was speaking at post-Budget webinar titled 'Road and Infoway connectivity to all rural habitations'.

Vittal suggested many ways to connect the rural population with the internet. He highlighted that for broadband infrastructure, backhaul is absolutely essential.

Backhaul is a part of a satellite network that serves as an intermediate between the main network and the small networks used for distribution to other smaller channels.

He also emphasized to allocate E-band spectrum, which represents the frequency range from 60 GHz to 90 GHz spectrum, to the telcos as soon as possible. If the E-band spectrum doesn't come in along with the access spectrum, the 5G gain will be in serious jeopardy.

"This E-band can enable a large amount of backhaul from the mobile tower to carry the broadband traffic. Unfortunately, this spectrum is sitting with the government, and has not been allocated to the players. I think this is a waste of a very precious resource. My view is that we must find some way of bundling it with 5G spectrum so that it is available for use in order to build out 5G," said Vittal.

Vodafone to sell 5% stake in Indus Towers to Airtel

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

THE cash-strapped Vodafone Idea Limited (VIL) could get the capital infusion from its British parent Vodafone Group Plc as the company is in talks to sell up to 5% stake in Indus Towers to rival Bharti Airtel. With this deal, the Vodafone Group estimates to fetch over ₹3,300 crore, and the proceeds from the sale will be used in debt-laden telco.

At present, Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Group each hold a stake of 41.73% and 28.12% in Indus Towers.

In its recent investor call, the Vodafone Idea set March-end as the deadline for raising capital to finance its operations. Vodafone Group and the Aditya Birla Group (ABG) own 44.39% and 27.66%, respectively in Vodafone Idea as its co-promoters.

The company recently opted to convert its AGR and spectrum dues into equity, which made the Indian government the biggest stakeholder in the third largest telecom company.

Vodafone's net debt is ₹1.97 lakh crore at December-end. In its third quarter that ended December 31, Vi reported net loss widened to ₹7,234.1 crore from ₹7,144.6 crore in the year earlier as operating and interest expenses rose. At the same time, it lost a further 5.8 million subscribers in December.

New Maruti Baleno at ₹6.35-9.49 lakh

INDIA'S largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki (MSIL) on Wednesday launched the facelift of Baleno, the hatchback which established the company's premium retail outlet chain Nexa and attracted a new set of aspirational buyers. At the price ranging between ₹6.35and ₹9.49 lakh (ex-showroom), the new age Baleno comes with a few firsts in the segment features to take on the likes of Hyundai i20 and Tata Altroz.

MSIL Managing Director and CEO Kenichi Ayukawa said the auto major along with its vendor partners has invested around ₹1,150 crore on the development of the new Baleno.

The company had first launched Baleno in October 2015 and since then it sold one unit every 3 minutes. Baleno also has been among the top five selling models in the country since its launch.

Speaking on the current market for passenger vehicles, Ayukawa said that barring supply side issues, the demand in the market looks promising. "Even today we have about 2.7 lakh bookings. We are making all efforts to fulfill this demand at the earliest and live up to the trust placed by our customers," Ayukawa said. ENS

40% may switch jobs in 2021; hybrid mode key

SAMIKSHA GOEL

AS attrition levels continue to rise, a new research released on Wednesday from Qualtrics revealed nearly 40% of workers in the country could switch jobs this year, which is a figure higher than most countries in South Asia, and the global average.

This is despite respondents in India reporting some of the highest levels of engagement (85%) and wellbeing (89%) at work globally.

Adopting permanent hybrid work policies will also be critical to attracting and retaining talent in 2022, according to the report, as 60% of respondents said they would look for a new job if forced back to the office full-time — almost double the global average (35%).

More to switch if forced back to office

According to the report, 60% of respondents said they would look for a new job if forced back to the office full-time — almost double the global average (35%).

As reported earlier, data from job search platforms like Monster and Naukri echo the growing traction towards 'permanent work-from-home' jobs. "The most popular hybrid arrangement for employees is 3 days remote/two in the office, followed closely by four days remote/one in the office," it said.

Prioritising employee wellbeing and ensuring employees feel like their career goals can be met are also important drivers of intent to stay, said the report.

"To effectively compete in the race for talent and successfully navigate challenges caused by the shift to hybrid, businesses across India must continue to adopt new mindsets, and define and iterate their ways of working," said Lauren Huntington, Employee Experience Solutions Strategist, Qualtrics India.

IBM launches first cybersecurity hub in B'luru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IBM on Wednesday launched a cybersecurity hub in Bengaluru, which will help organisations across the Asia Pacific region manage cyberattacks. The launch of the IBM Cybersecurity Hub is a response to cybersecurity challenges, said IBM India Managing Director Sandip Patel.

"Cybersecurity is a global challenge threatening enterprises more vigorously than ever before. We have an opportunity to respond and act now," Patel said at the launch.

"We need cutting-edge technology and the coming together of the entire ecosystem to address this threat. Apart from the newly launched security hub, IBM has one more centre in the US.

"This (new hub in Bengaluru) is one of IBM's largest investments in capabilities this year," he said.

The new facilities represent a strategic hub for IBM cybersecurity activities in the region, which also includes a Security Operation Center (SOC).

Union Minister of State for Electronics and IT Rajeev Chandrasekhar inaugurated the facility virtually.

"With Asia Pacific's enormous growth, diversity, and role in the global supply chain, these capabilities can be a real game-changer for helping customers face growing threats in the region," said Chris Hockings, IBM Security CTO for Asia Pacific.

At the launch, IBM also released X-Force Threat Intelligence Index 2022, which finds that Asia was the most attacked geography of 2021, as 26% of all attacks had targets in the continent.

CALL OF DUTY FOR SAMSON

Captain Rohit wants Kerala batter to maximise his talent and play an important role in T20 World Cup in Australia

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

IF Sanju Samson walks out to bat against Sri Lanka in any of the three matches, it will be his sixth T20I series spread across six-and-a-half years. In that time, he has played 10 T20Is but has never gone past 27 and has an average of 11.7 at a strike rate of a shade over 110. He has hit a boundary once every 10.6 balls and his record against spin is, to put it mildly, shocking. He averages 10.5 against them and gets out to them once every 10 balls or so while striking at 98.

But what that records hides is that Samson has not been given a sufficient run of games to make a case for his inclusion. He has been asked to fulfill different roles in the side: in his 10 matches, he has already played the role of a finisher, in the middle-order, opener as well as a No 3. To try and play that many roles is a bit of a challenge, especially for somebody like a Samson, whose inherent carefree strokeplay is already a detriment without the right sort of backing.

At the pre-tournament press conference ahead of the Sri Lanka series, Rohit Sharma wants to give that backing. In a monologue that lasted several minutes, the India skipper was intimate when asked about Samson, who is joint-fifth in the list for most IPL centuries with AB de Villiers. "That guy has got talent, man," Rohit purred. As somebody who was addressed with that same "T" word for a long time while struggling to convert that into runs, Rohit was kind of talking about himself circa 2012. That also makes his words carry extra weight when talking about Samson. "He has got that skillset to succeed. But it's how you utilise that talent that is the most critical part. I think it's up to Sanju now to understand how he wants to utilise the talent and how he can maximise it."

Rohit hopes Samson can utilise it starting with this series as he's in consideration for the T20 World Cup in Australia. The one obvious problem for the 27-year-old is not only the competition for places but the number of players who can bat in multiple positions at the top while doubling up as keepers. However, with the injury to Suryakumar Yadav and the continued absence of KL Rahul, there is a spot in the middle-order for Samson in all three games to try and make an impression. More so because Rohit seems to be a fan.

Rohit himself said so, explaining why he is in the scheme of things. "We see a lot of potential, we see a lot of match-winning ability in that individual. I hope we give him confidence whenever he gets the opportunity to play for us. His back-foot play is superb. Some of the shots you might have seen in the IPL... the pick-up pull, cut, standing and delivering. They are not easy to play, when you go to Australia, you need that kind of shot-making ability."

In those big grounds in Australia, you can never have too many power-hitters and Samson is somebody who ticks a lot of boxes. He's also a very good-hitter against pace (strikes at 150 while scoring a boundary every 4.9 balls in the IPL since 2019) so one can see why the team management wants Samson to come good ahead of a World Cup in Australia.

If the previous regime failed Samson a touch, in that they didn't give him the necessary guarantees nor the clarity of role, Rohit's words could well act as a balm.

Here's somebody from the senior management who is sending the message across to Samson, building him up, providing him with confidence that the management trusts him. Will he take it?

Like Rohit said, 'he definitely has it'. The challenge is to now 'maximise it'.

ISL: Hyderabad down Kerala, enter semifinals

MARTIN JOSEPH @ Kochi

THE legend of Bartholomew Ogbeche continues to grow. And based on the numbers he is continuing to rack up, the 37-year-old is arguably the best striker the Indian Super League has seen to date.

It is a tall claim, given that the likes of Sunil Chhetri and Ferran Corominas have operated at high standards. However, Ogbeche has pulled away from the two in the all-time goalscoring charts and has transformed Hyderabad into genuine title contenders.

He scored his 17th goal of the season and 52nd in the league in a 2-1 win over Kerala Blasters to help Hyderabad enter the semifinal for the first time ever. Javier Siverio scored a late goal but Ogbeche was once again the difference maker. The fact that the Nigerian has succeeded at every single ISL club that he has played at — four clubs till date — is what sets him apart.

While Ogbeche was instrumental in guiding NorthEast United to the play-offs, he was scoring for fun at Blasters despite the team having an underwhelming campaign.

At Mumbai City FC, despite not being a regular starter because of Adam Le Fondre, Ogbeche kept finding the net as Mumbai won the ISL shield and the Cup. The move to Hyderabad FC earlier this season came as a surprise, at least to some. Hyderabad is known more for developing young players rather than going for big names. Given Ogbeche's age and the high-intensity football which Manuel Marquez's team plays, there were doubts on whether the veteran football would fit in.

The former PSG forward didn't just embrace the challenge but is enjoying his best season yet in India and has proved to be the final piece in Hyderabad's well-drilled machine.

Karnataka set for Jammu and Kashmir test

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE story for the last couple of seasons has been quite the same in Karnataka cricket. After the retirement of the likes of Vinay Kumar, Abhimanyu Mithun and Sreenath Aravind, the pace department is longer the same. The last Ranji Trophy match against Railways being the latest example where two debutants Vidyadhar Patil and Vijaykumar Vyshak failed to deliver.

However, the team can take a sigh of relief with the availability of speedster Prasidh Krishna against Jammu and Kashmir in Chennai, starting Thursday. With their opponents having secured an outright win against Puducherry, it is a big game for Manish Pandey and his men.

RANJI TROPHY

"We are not looking at what the opposition did in the previous match, instead our focus is on doing well as a team," said Pandey.

They will need a strong performance from Prasidh, who comes into the domestic competition with impressive performances under his belt, scalping nine wickets in his last three ODIs against West Indies. Though the lanky bowler is confident and has it in him to rattle their opponents during the four-day contest, he will also need support from the rest of the pacers. Pandey believes Prasidh's addition is a boost to the entire team.

"Bowling group was a little inexperienced (against Railways) and we saw that on the ground during the game. Some of the fast bowlers are graduating into the senior team now, so the cricket might be a little more demanding. Good to have Prasidh Krishna back in the team, he adds to our bowling strength.," said Pandey.

They do not have problems in the batting department with Pandey, KV Siddharth and Ravikumar Samarth amongst the runs. Though Mayank Agarwal will join the Indian team for the Sri Lanka Test series, Karun Nair is available for selection in this game. In the spin department, K Gowtham will always be their best wicket-taking option and Shreyas Gopal contributes with both the bat and ball.

However, Jammu and Kashmir cannot be taken easy at any cost with their team possessing match-winners in the form of Abdul Samad, Parvez Rasool, Umran Malik among others.

CL: Chelsea beat Lille, Juventus held

AFP @ London/Villarreal

CHELSEA showed they can thrive without Romelu Lukaku as Kai Havertz scored after replacing the axed Belgium striker for the 2-0 Champions League last 16, first-leg win against Lille on Tuesday.

Thomas Tuchel's side took control of the tie thanks to Havertz's first-half header and Christian Pulisic's clinical finish after the break at Stamford Bridge. The holders will expect to complete their progress to the quarterfinals when they travel to France for the second leg on March 16. But Chelsea's sixth successive win in all competitions was more a referendum on their Lukaku conundrum than an indication of their chances of retaining the trophy.

In another match, Dusan Vlahovic lived up to the hype by scoring 32 seconds into his Champions League debut but Juventus have work to do to make the last 16 after being held 1-1 by Villarreal.

Vlahovic found the corner with just his second touch of the game but a sensational start for Juve and the Serb's Champions League career was not enough for victory. Villarreal's Dani Parejo sscored an equaliser in the second half.

Tuesday's results: Last 16 (first legs):
Chelsea 2-0 Lille; Villarreal 1-1 Juventus.

Asiad in mind, rowers change training venues

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

THE Asian Games later this year will be a big chance for Indian rowers to prove their mettle and better their show of the 2018 edition where they won three medals including gold. In its bid to keep the rowers ready for the quadrennial event, the Rowing Federation of India (RFI) has shifted the coaching camps of men and women rowers to Bhopal and Hyderabad, respectively. The men's camp started at the Upper Lake on February 10 while the women's camp began at Hussain Sagar six days earlier.

"The Army Rowing Node in Pune, where the men's camp was going on for ast two years, offers ideal conditions for preparations but we wanted rowers to train in open water. We wanted a bigger course as the Pune facility has only a 2km course," Rajlaxmi Singh Deo, president of RFI, told this daily. Similarly, the water level at the facility in Odisha's Jagatpur where the women rowers were camping, goes down considerably in summer due to heat and humidity which made the federation shift the venue. "Apart from water level, accommodation was also an issue in Jagatpur. The campers have to stay away from the venue because of which a lot of time was lost in travelling to and fro. Here at the Hussain Sagar, the youth hostel is situated within walking distance making it easy for the campers," added Deo.

The RFI made the call with the Asian Games in mind

A total of 26 men rowers are in Bhopal while 17 female rowers and one male rower are in Hyderabad.

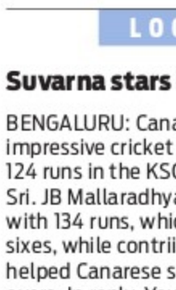
Chahar could miss start of IPL due to injury

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

DEEPAK Chahar, who is undergoing rehabilitation at the National Cricket Academy (NCA) in Bengaluru, following a right quadriceps injury, is set to undergo further tests to ascertain the extent of the damage. The all-rounder, who picked up the injury during India's third T20I against West Indies in Kolkata, has already been ruled out of the Sri Lanka series and there are concerns that he may miss at least the start of the IPL for Chennai Super Kings.

In the third match, Chahar walked-off after bowling just 1.5 overs at the Eden Gardens. While it is not clear whether it is a Grade I or a Grade II injury, there are concerns that in case his injury isn't managed properly, it could come back again. While a Grade I tear will take at least a month to recover, which should allow him to feature in the IPL by the first week of April, a Grade II tear could sideline him for much longer. In the worst case scenario, Chahar may not be available for a major part of the IPL. If that is the case, it will be a huge blow to the defending champions, who signed him for ₹14 crore at the auctions on February 13.



Even though Chennai are planning to have a camp before the IPL, Chahar will not be able to join the team until he clears his fitness tests at the NCA, where he will be monitored by the BCCI team.

More T20Is in Chennai?

The MA Chidambaram Stadium, which is scheduled to host one of the five T20Is between India and South Africa in June, is likely to get two more matches. While Bengaluru, Nagpur, Rajkot and Delhi have been named as venues for the series beginning on June 9, the BCCI is concerned about the southwest monsoon that usually starts by the end of May. Chennai and Vizag could instead host these matches, provided Chepauk is decked up and ready following the renovation of the pavilion.

While the old structure has been brought down, the TNCA is awaiting other clearance and is likely to begin work in the next couple of weeks.

FACT VS FICTION

Even as many are going gaga over Rocket Boys, which chronicles the journey of nuclear scientist Homi Bhabha and physicist Vikram Sarabhai, science historian and filmmaker Jahnavi Phalkey feels the series took an incorrect approach with unnecessary fictionalisation and heavy dramatisation

Meghnad Saha

MONIKA MONALISA

IT is hard to not binge watch a series like Rocket Boys, which has been the talk of the town, especially since it involves eminent Bengalureans. The show, which chronicles the life and journey of nuclear scientist Homi J Bhabha and physicist Vikram Sarabhai, takes the audience through moments of history in the field of science. However, the scientific community in the city is highly disappointed with the portrayal of characters, the heavy dramatisation and incorrect information.

"Why did the makers have to come up with fictional characters in the first place?", questions science historian and filmmaker Jahnavi Phalkey. "There was no need for that. It could have been true to history, and could have recognised the great work that was done by the eminent scientists of those times. They didn't have to glorify anyone or anything," says Phalkey, the founding director of Science Gallery.

The show introduces a fictional character by the name Raza Mehdi, who is shown to have played a significant role in Bhabha's life. Though a fictional character, Mehdi, the physicist bears much resemblance to Indian physicist Meghnad Saha. In fact, Saha was one of key figures in the scientific community, who, along with Satyendra Nath Bose, carried out the first English language translation of Einstein's relativity paper. "The '20s and '30s was a very heady time for Physics in India, this was also the time when CV Raman was awarded the Nobel Prize in Physics. Saha initiated the establishment of an experimental nuclear facility, a cyclotron, in Kolkata. He also spoke to Russians to get India's first nuclear reactors. Saha's contribution was immense," says Phalkey.

A still from Rocket Boys

The city-based science historian explains the relationship between Saha and Bhabha who, despite several differences, shared mutual respect for each other. "In one of the letters they exchanged, which I have gone through, they discuss why science in India is not moving ahead. You don't talk or exchange ideas with someone you don't respect," says Phalkey, adding that something like this could have been showcased.

Bhabha and Sarabhai met at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), which was then headed by CV Raman. The Nobel laureate, who is shown to have a calm demeanor in the series, was quite the opposite in real life. "Raman fought with everybody. He was brilliant and a very good scientist. He had a very strong professional network in India and abroad. But going by the archives, what I can say is that he was far from calm," says Phalkey, adding, "He had very strong opinions and would spare no bones asserting them. He was not a very easy person to be around."

In the series, Bhabha disapproves of Mehdi, saying he supports the Muslim League. Bringing in a religious angle was uncalled for, says Phalkey. "There was no need of bringing that angle in. Scientific development has been backed by the Tatas, Birlas, aristocratic families of Bengal and also from princely states. The Indian Institute of Science was founded as a Tata initiative and land was given by the Maharaja of Mysore," says Phalkey.

CAREFUL DOCUMENTATION REQUIRED

Tarun Souradeep, director, Raman Research Institute, says, "Science communication should be done in a very professional way. The onus is on the person writing it. I understand that you are trying to reach the masses, but not at the cost of being factually incorrect. There are organisations which have carefully documented facts about prominent people like Vikram Sarabhai and Homi Bhabha.

Designer Reshma Kunhi recently introduced her latest Indo-Western collection at the International Fashion Week, where actors Nandita Swetha and Iti Acharya were show stoppers

EXPRESS FEATURES

Reshma Kunhi

Iti Acharya

WE often hear from fashion gurus that it's important to have one piece in your wardrobe that is versatile and can be worn on different occasions. But what is that one outfit? Designer Reshma Kunhi's latest collection could be the answer to this question. Kunhi recently introduced her latest Indo-Western collection at the International Fashion Week at Marriott Bengaluru Whitefield, where Tamil actor Nandita Swetha and Kannada actor Iti Acharya turned showstoppers for her show.

Keeping the weather in mind, the celebrity designer included fusion wear. "As summer is nearing, I am working on an Indo-Western collection because that's what works best for the season. Youngsters today prefer wearing fusion wear. Even in the bridal collection, western bridal outfits with an Indian twist are popular," says Kunhi, adding that the collection works for most occasions. Her new offerings include a variety of shirts and crop tops.

They say the devil lies in the details. Kunhi has taken this seriously with most of her pieces including sequin work and elaborate embroidery. "There's this skirt that has complete embroidery but the shirt is simple," says Kunhi, who suggests pairing jewellery based on the occasion. "One can pair a crop top with a saree or skirt. There is a halter top which can be paired with jeans," says Kunhi, adding that due to Covid, many want versatile elements in their wardrobe which can match their with other outfits.

Acharya looked like a dream in an off-white bridal wear, giving off a summer feel. "Iti wore a bridal wear made of pure chanderi silk with zari bootis on it. We paired it with a very heavy necklace. I wanted to show a summer bride," explains Kunhi.

On the other hand, Swetha was wearing a fusion lehenga which was colourful and had a happy and peppy vibe to it. "The one that Swetha wore would be great for a reception or cocktail party. Or one can wear it for any other evening function as well," says Kunhi, adding that Swetha's dance during her entry was the highlight of the show.

Stand-up comedy group Tharle Box's new short film, Baby Over, is a blend of nostalgia and humour around gully cricket

SCORING ON NOSTALGIA

SANATH PRASAD

If you have ever played gully cricket, terms like baby over, joker, one-hand pitch-catch etc. are not new to you. In fact, these words actually shaped the true essence of gully cricket. Capturing the same vibe on lens is the team of Tharle Box, a Bengaluru-based stand-up comedy group, that is releasing a nine-minute short film called Baby Over. Directed by debutant director and stand-up comic artiste Banu Prakash, the film takes you on a short journey of how gully cricket became a major part in the life of cricket lovers. Prakash quit his corporate job in 2019 and joined Tharle Box as a stand-up artiste. His prolific writing pushed him to write for Tharle Box's web series but unfortunately, did not take off. However, he got his breakthrough with Baby Over, which is inspired by true events that transpired during a gully cricket match involving Prakash. Baby over in gully cricket usually refers to a situation where one bowler bowls only three balls and another bowls the remaining three. "The film is inspired by real events that took place in my life when I was playing gully cricket.

Most of the '90s kids usually have very fond memories of this format and are familiar with what the baby over is. The film is sure to bring back some nostalgic moments and some unexpected surprises during a gully cricket match," says Prakash, who also plays a cameo in the short film.

According to Prakash, the story is set in the '90s and it starts with the crucial final over of the match. What follows during the final over with some twists in the end, forms the crux of the story. "This short film consists of slow-motion visuals which we experimented with as a sports-based short film. The visuals and audio is also designed in such a way that it takes people back to the '90s. Since the lockdown due to the pandemic forced us to stay indoors, not many kids are exposed to gully cricket," says Prakash, who is also the writer for the short film.

Banu Prakash

Lohit Kumar S, co-founder of Tharle Box, says, "This project brought back memories of when I used to play cricket in my compound during my early days. This project is a blend of nostalgia and is laced with humour. Moreover, some major OTT players have shown some interest in our content and we are now working on some web-series scripts." The short film is expected to release this weekend on Tharle Box's YouTube channel.

FIT BIT

VIPARITA NAMASKAR NIRAKUNJASANA

(REVERSE PRAYER WATER GROVE POSE)

In this pose, the body is balanced on the points of contact with the floor: feet, knees, chest, chin. It forms as part of the classical Surya Namaskar. Its focus should be directed to the Manipura (solar plexus) chakra. This improves the mobility of the back and increases arm strength while opening up the chest. It is spiritually associated with the Ajna (third eye) Chakra. Beginners can initiate this practice with Cat pose.

STEPS
- Begin by coming into the plank pose. Your palms are well-stretched and deep-seated. Your toes firm on the floor and heels apart.
- Exhale and drop your knees, chest down and shoulder to the floor. Engage your core muscles to get into the posture.
- Your elbows should be near the ribs. The shoulder should be in between the palms and point forward to allow the expansion of the chest.
- From here, raise the hips and let your abdomen and mid-torso engage completely so that, either your chin or forehead touch the floor. Assure that your belly is pulled in, with a slight upraised arch in your entire back.
- Your body should balance on the toes, both knees, and either the chin or the forehead. Keep your hands in Namaskar Mudra behind your body.
- Maintain here and breathe slowly for a few minutes or as per comfort.
- Then inhale and slowly raise your chin, chest, shoulder, leave the belly and knees up into the plank pose.

BENEFITS
- Relaxes the lumbar region, especially useful for people who are often sitting in uncomfortable positions for extended periods of time.
- It helps the ascent of Kundalini Shakti, creating the right conditions for a profound spiritual transformation.
- This helps to restore the natural curvature of the spine.
- Strengthens the back muscles.
- Improves sexual energy, helping the practice of Brahmacharya, one of the five Yamas of Patanjali.

LIMITATIONS
- If you have problems in the lumbar area and have blood pressure or migraine, avoid this.
- Do not practise this pose if you have carpal tunnel syndrome, wrist injury, or any recent injuries to your neck, shoulder, or elbow.
- If you are pregnant, avoid this pose after the first trimester.

Bird flu unlikely to spread in India: Experts

Bird flu has resurfaced in India with cases being reported from Maharashtra. Thousands of birds have been culled in Palghar alone. However, an expert said that the disease is unlikely to spread majorly in the country. Adil Amin from the Department of Medicine, Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital, said that this infection rarely follows human-to-human transmission. People can contract the bird flu virus from bird droppings or close contact with infected birds only. —IANS

Reduced surveillance of Covid virus concerning

Even as Covid cases are decreasing and several countries lifting restrictions, testing and surveillance of the virus is also on the decline, which is a major cause of concern, said a World Health Organisation official. And what we do not want to see is the dismantling of these surveillance systems that have been put in place," she said. — IANS

How to keep your kidneys healthy

In India, over the past 10-15 years, lifestyle-related diseases have contributed to over 60 per cent of the disease burden in the country

DR VIDYASHANKAR P

THE burden on Chronic Kidney Disease (CKD) has increased worldwide due to the increase in non-communicable diseases (NCDs) and other risk factors such as diabetes, hypertension, vascular disease and glomerulonephritis (inflammation of glomeruli, the tiny filters in your kidneys). Although CKD affects all age groups, it is more prevalent in those above the age of 65. It affects approximately 10 per cent of the world's adult population.

Kidneys are vital to our health and hence it is essential to keep them healthy. With the increasing pace of stressful and sedentary lifestyles, people are becoming susceptible to serious kidney problems. In-take of a balanced diet will help us to keep our creatinine level. High creatinine can affect our kidneys which will further lead to renal failure. In India, over the past 10-15 years, lifestyle-related diseases have contributed to over 60 per cent of the disease burden in the country. Currently, we are witnessing every year 2,00,000 patients dying due to kidney failure in India. Healthy kidneys are important to your overall health and general well-being. Here are a few tips to keep your kidneys healthy:

Stay hydrated: Drink plenty of water. During hot weather or while performing strenuous exercise, you need to drink more water than usual to make up for the fluid lost by sweating.

Eat healthy: A balanced diet ensures you get all the vitamins and minerals your body needs. Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables. Reduce salt content in your diet. Avoid foods that are high in saturated fats and cholesterol like cheese and fried foods.

Monitor and control your blood pressure: High blood pressure can increase your risk of kidney and heart problems. It is very important to detect hypertension and control your blood pressure with life-style changes and medications.

Quit smoking: Smoking narrows the blood vessels and reduces blood flow to the kidneys. It also increases blood pressure and heart rate and accelerates the loss of kidney function.

Avoid high protein health supplements: High protein health supplements can burden your kidney. It is important to consult your doctor before starting over the counter protein supplements.

Exercise regularly: Make physical activity part of your daily routine. Aim for at least 30 minutes of moderate-intensity exercise, such as walking, cycling, or swimming every day.

Avoid painkillers: Over the counter painkillers like ibuprofen, diclofenac, naproxen can damage your kidneys, if you take them regularly for joint pain, headaches, etc. Consult your doctor for evaluation of pain and kidney-safe pain medications.

Control your blood sugars: Diabetes is the leading cause of kidney disease. Uncontrolled sugars can cause damage to your eyes, nerves, heart, blood vessels and kidneys over a period of time. Good control of blood sugars will help you lead a long and healthy life.

Screen for kidney disease if you are at high risk: Individuals with diabetes, high blood pressure, heart disease or a family history of kidney failure are at a higher risk of developing kidney disease. Screening should be done yearly with a urine routine and renal function test. The earliest symptoms of kidney disease include puffiness of the face, swelling of legs, nausea, vomiting, and reduced appetite.

OPPORTUNITY DOES NOT KNOCK, IT PRESENTS ITSELF WHEN YOU BEAT DOWN THE DOOR › KYLE CHANDLER

'TECHNICIANS ARE MY HEROES, AND THEY ARE WITH ME AT EVERY STEP OF MY DIRECTION'

... says Prem, who expresses his happiness directing Rachita Ram and debut actors Raanna and Reeshma Nanaiah in the romantic thriller Ek Love Ya

Prem

A still from Ek Love Ya

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Prem, who has worked with stars like Darshan, Puneeth Rajkumar, Shivarajkumar and Sudeep, is set to launch the careers of w and Reeshma Nanaiah in the upcoming romantic thriller, Ek Love Ya. "The film wouldn't have been made if Raana (Prem's brother-in-law) didn't express his wish to become a hero, says Prem.

Ek Love Ya, which is set to screen on February 24, marks the filmmaker's third romantic film after Excuse Me and Preethi Eke Bhoomi Melide. "I prefer launching an actor in a romantic subject because it is always the best bet. I don't opt for an action-based subject because I am wary about the audience accepting a debutant in it," he says.

Prem reveals that Ek Love Ya was initially titled Excuse Me2. "Since Excuse Me was a big hit, I thought a title like Excuse Me 2 would create a good buzz. However, the rights of the title were with somebody else. They were willing to give away the title provided I direct the project under their production. Since we intended to back the film under our home banner Rakshitha Film Factory, we decided to go with a new title, Ek Love Ya. The title, which was designed with hearts and a lifeline, was apt to explain this love story," says Prem.

Incidentally, Ek Love Ya is based on a real-life incident, which took place in Haasan. "I took a leaf out of this story, and we worked on it for six months and converted it into a thriller," says Prem, who also bills Ek Love Ya as a musical that has seven songs composed by Arjun Janya. "I usually consider music as the film's soul and allot 6-12 months for developing the music. It is almost like making a small-budget film," Prem explains.

Prem has a signature style to his filmmaking and candidly admits that he never shows his films to the producers, and doesn't even reveal the entire story to the lead cast and other actors. It is only the technicians who are in the know. "Technicians are the ones who are with me at every step of the way. That way, I'm fortunate to have been associated with the best technicians like composer Arjun Janya and cinematographer Mahendra Simha aka Tiger in Ek Love Ya," the director shares.

Prem says that the lead cast of Ek Love Ya including Rachita Ram, newbies Raana and Reeshma Nanaiah, and every cast member has done a fantastic job. "A romantic thriller is completely a new genre for me," says the director, who wants the audience to come with an open mind without being burdened by expectations. Prem reveals that by working with fresh faces he also became a newcomer. "I want cine-goers to keep the name 'Prem' aside, and watch the film for the effort made by this young talents," he signs off.

Raana

Ek Love Ya is a perfect launch vehicle: Raana

CE FEATURES

RAANA has grown up watching his sister and popular actor Rakshita, mother Mamatha Rao, and brother-in-law Prem making their marks on the silver screen. It is now his turn to take the proverbial cinematic plunge with the upcoming romantic thriller, Ek Love Ya. "During the final year of my engineering, I wanted to take up acting as my career, and I realised that if I didn't express myself then, I would never be able to fulfill my dream. I expressed this to my mother and later conveyed it to Prem, who supported my interest. Eventually, everything fell in place," says Raana.

A student of Lee Strasberg Theatre, Raana also assisted director Prem in The Villain and he got to interact and learn from stars like Shivarajkumar and Sudeep. "My process to get into films began in 2015, and Prem has been guiding me for 7 years. However, I never believed that a director of his caliber would helm a film for me. He is a brand and he understands the audience's pulse. I must thank my mother, my sister, and Prem for giving wings to my acting dreams," he says.

Raana is happy to begin with a romantic thriller that also has a social message. "The director has picked up a relevant story that is convent driven and is blended with romance and thriller elements. With multiple elements including a musical being part of the film, I don't think Ek Love Ya can be fixed to any particular genre," says Raana, adding, "The film is an all-round entertainer and will be a perfect launch vehicle for me."

'OLD MONK WILL BE A STRESS BUSTER'

Actor-director-Producer Srini talks about his latest family entertainer and promises to deliver a 'kick' with it

CE FEATURES

THE multifaceted Srini is a bundle of talent. Starting as a background dancer, he later was a Radio Jackey for five years, and then took to making short films, which helped him make films on shoestring budgets. The turning point of his career was his directorial debut with Upendra's Topiwala. "Without any previous experience, helming my first project with Upendra in the lead was like gaining a Ph.D. degree from a university where I got to learn filmmaking from a filmmaker like Upendra," shares Srini. He then followed it up with Srinivasa Kalyana, which was made on a budget of ₹ 50 lakhs, and then helmed the experimental crime thriller, Birbal - Case 1 Vajramuni.

Now, the director and actor is all set to release his fourth outing, Old Monk, which will hit theatres on February 25. "Each film has a challenge and coming to Old Monk, it will be high on 'entertainment, entertainment, and entertainment," says Srinivas who asserts that the film will be a way for audiences to overcome the gloom of the pandemic. "Old Monk will be a perfect stress buster, and that was the intention of making this film," the director adds.

Srini believes that uniqueness in a film lies in its presentation. "Old Monk will be a complete family entertainer. Any story can be condensed into a simple one-liner and all that matters is how the director wants to treat the premise," he says.

Srini's punch can be seen in the multiple ways the title of his project can be translated into. One is the popular rum brand, and it also means Hale Sanyasi in Kannada. "The similarity between the brand and title lies in the fact that the audience will surely get a 'kick' from my film," he chuckles. "The film centers around a Sanyasi, and that's how we came up with this title," says Srini, who intended to make a film that will cater to all types of audience. "This film, which was mostly made during the pandemic, allowed us to experiment with our publicity, and it has received a good response," he says.

Srini also doubles up as the lead in Old Monk, and one can't help but ask if he would act in all his directorial ventures. "If I get an opportunity to direct another actor in the lead in the right script, I will be happier to just be behind the camera," he says.

Starring Aditi Prabhudeva as the female lead, Old Monk, backed by Siddhi Entertainment, also stars a host of senior actors including late actor Rajesh, S Narayan, and Sihi Kahi Chandru among others. Written by Srini, Santhosh Nandakumar and Prasanna VM, Old Monk has music by Saurabh-Vaibhav and cinemtaograph by Bharath Parashuram.

Aziz Ansari's directorial debut comedy drama to star Bill Murrary

CE FEATURES

AZIZ Ansari is set to make his directorial debut with a comedy drama. The film will have him playing the lead alongside Bill Murrary.

The project is being adapted from the 2014 non-fiction book Being Mortal: Medicine and What Matters in the End. Ansari has written the script and will also produce the film along with Youree Henley, Taylor Friedman, and Cameron Chidsey for Searchlight Pictures.

The book written by Atul Gawande, a practicing surgeon, is about aging, patients' anxieties regarding death and doctor's tendencies to fall back on false hope. The yet-to-be titled film will see a theatrical release in 2023.

Ansari has earlier won two Emmy Awards for outstanding writing for a comedy for Master of None. He also made his maiden directorial on the Netflix show, helming 11 episodes over the course of three seasons, earning an Emmy nomination for directing. He also directed Nightclub Comedian, which will be streaming on Netflix later this year.

KIRUBHAKAR PURUSHOTHAMAN

"Great men are not born great, they grow great." This is one among many, many popular quotes from The Godfather. It's a line that can be said about films too. The Godfather, directed by Francis Ford Coppola and based on Mario Puzo's novel of the same name, was released on March 14, 1972, and now, 50 years later, it continues to grow great. Look at how this film continues to inspire generation after generation of filmmakers across the world, who have come up with different iterations of the original. If ever there was a film worthy of the 'classic' tag, this here is it. Here are contemporary filmmakers speaking on why this 50-year-old film endures and continues to fuel cinema across the world.

For Abhinav Sunder Nayak, the editor of films like Uriyadi and director of the upcoming film Mukundan Unni Associates, finally getting to watch The Godfather on the big screen will be the realisation of a childhood dream. "I first saw The Godfather in the early 2000s. My dad, a huge fan of the first two films, who had seen it at Kozhikode's Crown Cinema upon its release, kept saying that these films should be experienced on the big screen. When we bought a DVD player for the first time, this was among the first films we watched. And yet, I could see that the CRT monitor didn't quite do justice. It even got me wondering what the big deal with this film was." In fact, Abhinav went on to call the film 'overrated'. "I watched it again after years, out of sheer curiosity, and this time, I was stunned. I found it to be an extraordinary piece of cinema. With maturity and more knowledge about filmmaking, my appreciation had grown. I later rewatched The Godfather on a Blu-ray of the remastered version. I have since seen this film at least 10 times by now. I am stoked about seeing the latest 4K Remastered version."

Rocky director Arun Matheswaran wasn't aware of the rerelease when we reached out to him. "I am definitely going to catch it!" he began. "The Godfather is the bible for gangster cinema. It has inspired so many stories and films including my own film, Rocky. The introduction of Mani Maran (Bharathiraja) in my debut film is inspired by the first scene of The Godfather, where a grieving father pleads to avenge the wrong done to his daughter." Arun says he learned the art of framing from this film. "Notice Kay Adams (Diane Keaton), Michael Corleone's wife, in the last shot of the film. As Michale becomes the don and men kiss his hand, Kay is outside trying to take a peek into their world. She stays an outsider. The film also serves as a character study—be it Vito Corleone or the impulsive first son… It's an extraordinary lesson."

For Malayalam filmmaker and screenwriter Salil V, the rerelease is a special occasion as this is the first time he will be seeing the film! "I have read the book, of course, but not seen the film despite having the DVD with me. The novel is fantastic and I'm eagerly looking forward to seeing this supposed marvel of filmmaking on a huge screen for the first time. I hope that the theatres bring out the sequels too soon."

For Telugu filmmaker Sudhir Varma, the director of films like Ranarangam and Dohchay, even getting the chance to speak about The Godfather for its 50th anniversary is an honour. The Swamy Ra Ra director is vocal about how he gets inspired by classics: "There are numerous remakes and inspirations of The Godfather like Nayakan and the Sarkar series. My own film, Ranarangam, is part of this list. The visuals of The Godfather engrossed me the first time. There isn't a single frame that's boring. It was a visual spectacle made in the 70s without modern tech, and I daresay, no film has or will match it ever. Also, while numerous films get adapted from books, they usually don't live up to the original work. I have read the book, and I think the film has outdone the novel."

Echoing Sudhir Varma, Anjum Rajabali, screenwriter of Raajneeti, The Legend of Bhagat Singh, Toofan, says, "There are few instances where the film is equal to, if not better, than the book, and that is the case with Coppola's The Godfather. I've taught the film as a pristine example of adaptation and structuring. The book, a sprawling epic, establishes a lot about Vito Corleone's childhood, his relationships, his psychology and all of that. Whereas in the film, his son Michael is the protagonist. And as Michael grows in power, parallely his moral decline begins. His paranoia and isolation increases, breaching the family values his father held dear. This is captured beautifully in the holy-profane juxtaposition in the baptism sequence. Michael is a classic archetype that goes back to Arjun in the Mahabharata. Structurally, too, the film is masterful. All these factors make the movie such a fine cinematic as well as literary achievement."

The Godfather can be caught in limited PVR theatres this weekend.
